Persons desiring the construction of a temporary dam on the Sarun canals must prefer a written application to the Canal Manager in whose jurisdiction the proposed dam lies, specifying the object of the work, and the length of the time for which it is required. The application will be submitted to the Canal Officer, with the opinion of the Canal Manager. If the Canal Officer considers the construction of such temporary dam expedient, he shall call upon the applicant, or applicants, to deposit a sum of money sufficient to cover the cost of construction and maintenance of the dam, and of removing the same when no longer required.

On the completion of the dam, the Canal Officer shall give the applicant, or applicants, notice thereof, and also of any further sum payable by him, or them, on account of its construction. The Canal Officer shall not permit irrigation with water raised by the dam until the whole sum thus demanded shall have been paid. Rates for such irrigation will be charged as fixed in rule 12.

10. If one or more of the riparian proprietors desire to have a permanent dam erected in any river bed, he or they shall present an application to that effect to the Collector who will decide, in communication with the Canal Officer, on the advisability of constructing such a dam. Should he deem it desirable, he shall cause plans and estimates to be prepared, and shall then call on the applicants to give a guarantee, securing interest at 4½ per cent. on the amount of the estimates, provided that, if the cost of the work should, through unforeseen causes, exceed the original estimate, the Guarantor or Guarantors shall pay interest on the total cost of the work. The construction of the dam will be carried out by the Canal Officer. A register shall be kept of the Guarantors of the cost of dam, and any person may, at any time, apply to the Canal Officer to be made a part owner thereof on payment to the co-sharers in the work, of such sums as may be fixed by the Collector. Shares will generally be distributed in proportion to the area of the estates concerned. The privileges of an owner are (1) exemption from any higher rate than Re. 1 per acre per annum, and (2) prior claim to irrigation from the dam. Other persons irrigating from the dam may be charged any rate, not above Rs. 2, which may be fixed by Government. The maintenance of the permanent dam shall be a charge against the owner. The Canal Officer shall have power to stop all supplies of water if the dam is not maintained in proper repair.

11. The Collector shall make arrangements for the disposal of the fisheries, and the sale-proceeds of the rights of the same shall be an asset to be taken into account in determining the Guarantor's liabilities for any portion of the guarantee in any year.

12. Persons desiring to irrigate their fields with canal water by flow or lift must submit a written application in the form (Appendix A) to be obtained by himself or by his agent from the Canal Manager, whereupon the latter shall issue a permit, in form Appendix B, to irrigate. The right to irrigate without extra charge extends up to 15th February following the date on which the permit was issued. The rate charged shall not exceed Re. 1 per acre irrespective of the crops grown, except in special cases to be determined by Government.

13. Any person desirous of taking water for manufacture of indigo must apply to the Canal Officer through the Canal Manager, stating the area of cultivation, the area which he has leased for irrigation, and promising that he will on the 1st of October declare the quantity he has manufactured.

14. Licenses will be granted on the following terms:—

(a) To persons irrigating an area of not less than half their cultivation, one rupee per maund.

(b) To persons irrigating an area of less than half their cultivation, two rupees per maund.

Provided that, as Guarantors are, under the terms of their guarantees, entitled to water for manufacture free of charge, the sums leviable from them under the above conditions shall be set off against the guarantee, and, on consideration of the payment of the latter, be written off the account.

15. The privileges of Guarantors are as follows:—

(1) A prior claim to a supply of water for irrigation and manufacture during the continuance of their guarantee.

(2) Each Guarantor to have a sub-district within which he shall act as the agent of Government in managing the affairs of the canal, receiving a commission on his collection of 20 per cent.

(3) The right to use water for manufacturing purposes free of charge.

16. Any person may apply to the Collector to become a Guarantor. If the Collector accept the application, which at his discretion he may or may not do, he shall proceed, in communication with the Canal Officer, to determine whether the new guarantee shall be utilized towards extending the canals, providing distributaries or embankments, or towards reducing the responsibility of the original Guarantor. If the original Guarantor (within whose dehat the applicant's property or interest is situated) claims a reduction in his guarantee and can at the same time show that the application of the new Guarantor towards an extension of the canal would operate to reduce his collections below the amount of his guarantee, his claims to have his guarantee reduced shall be approved; otherwise, the new guarantee may be applied towards extending the canals, and an area corresponding to the applicant's property or interest be marked off to him, within which he shall exercise the rights and privileges now exercised in their dehats by the Guarantors mentioned in paragraph 5 of these rules.

If the applicant's interest or property be not situated within any dehat as specified in paragraph 5, then the Collector shall apply the guarantee towards extending the benefits of the canal system.

17. Canal Managers or Guarantors requiring water for the irrigation of their own fields, or for manufacture, will apply for the requisite permit to the Collector through the Canal Officer. In the license for the use of water for irrigation and manufacture, the rates to be charged shall be stated. In accordance with rules 12, 13, and 14 the following rates will be charged, subject to the proviso in paragraph 14:—

| | Rs. | A. |
|---|---|---|
| Irrigation per acre ... ... ... ... | 1 | 0 |
| Manufacture. | Per md. | |
| | Rs. | A. |
| To persons irrigating one-half of their cultivation ... | 1 | 0 |
| To persons irrigating less than one-half ... ... | 2 | 0 |

18. The irrigation year will commence on the 1st of April, and as soon after the 15th January and 15th September of each year as possible, the Canal Manager shall present bills for water-rates based on the actual area irrigated, and deliver them to the irrigators before the 15th February and 15th October. If these bills are not paid to the Canal Manager before the 1st of March and 1st of November, he shall prepare a list of unpaid claims, and submit the same to the Collector through the Canal Officer, who will put in force the powers vested in him for their recovery in accordance with sections 83, 84, and 85 of the irrigation Act.

19. It will be the duty of Canal Managers to see—

1*st*.—That all applications for water are made in the forms supplied to them. These applications must be filed for reference, and will be issued to applicants free of charge.

10*th*.—That bills for commission on the collections at 20 per cent. be submitted when requisite to the Canal Officer who will issue cheques for their payment on the order of the Collector.

(a) The sum guaranteed.
(b) The total collection.
(c) The total payments into the treasury.
(d) The excess of (b) over (a) on which bills for the 20 per cent. allowance are to be drawn.

All correspondence and accounts may be kept in Kaithi, if the Canal Manager desires it. Forms, as detailed in previous paragraphs of these rules, will be supplied by Government, together with service stamps free of charge; all other charges for stationery must be met by the Managers and defrayed from their commission. All accounts and records relating to canal matters must be open to the inspection of the Collector, the Canal Officers, and their Deputies. WHEREAS it is expedient to make better provision for the general management, regulation, and control of the Government burial grounds in the Town of Calcutta and its Suburbs, it is hereby enacted as follows :—

Preamble.

1. This Act may be called "The Calcutta Burial Boards Act, 1881," and it shall come into force on the day of 1881.

Short title and commencement of Act.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may, by a notification published in the Calcutta Gazette, appoint a Burial Board for the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta.

Lieutenant-Governor may appoint a Burial Board.

3. The Board shall be constituted as follows :—

Constitution of Board.

An officer of the Public Works Department, to be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal;

Lieutenant-Governor may place Government burial grounds under the Board.

6. ## STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Archdeacon of Calcutta has recently brought to the notice of Government the unsatisfactory state of the Calcutta Government Cemeteries owing to the want of some one controlling authority. These Cemeteries are used by members of different Christian sects, and it is therefore undesirable to place any individual in general charge of them. It is proposed to constitute a Burial Board, on which the Town, the Government, and the various religious bodies using the Cemeteries, shall as far as possible be represented. and to entrust to this Board the necessary powers of control. Provision is made for enabling the owners of private Burial Grounds to place them under the control of the Board on such terms as the local Government may approve.

Rule 80.—The Superintendent or other officer shall thereupon examine the fittings, and after satisfying himself that the requirements of the rules have been complied with, shall grant a certificate of approval specifying the number of emigrant passengers that the vessel may carry.

Rule 81.—The master of any vessel intending to carry labourers as emigrant passengers under his license, shall provide the following :—

(c) The establishment of attendants as prescribed in Schedule E.

Rule 82.—On arrival at the place of embarkation, the master desiring a license shall make a written application to the Embarkation Agent, or other officer duly empowered by the local Government, and shall be prepared for survey by clearing the whole or such portion of the deck space as may be intended for the accommodation of emigrant passengers; and, if labourers are to be carried, by having the prescribed provisions and other stores arranged conveniently for examination.

Rule 83.—The Embarkation Agent or other officer as aforesaid, on receipt of the application for license, shall, in consultation with the Medical Inspector, hold the survey of the vessel's fittings and available space, and, if labourers are to be carried, of the requisite stores, at which both master and medical officer are to be present. The certificate of approval granted under Rule 80 shall be produced by the master at such survey, and the Embarkation Agent or other officer as aforesaid shall accept the permanent fittings as therein described on satisfying himself that they have not since been altered or damaged; and shall also, in the event of the entire deck space being reserved for emigrant passengers, accept and enter in the license, which he may in his discretion grant to the master, the number such space is stated in the certificate to be capable of accommodating; but, if only a part of such space be reserved, he shall, after ascertaining the number that may be accommodated therein, specify in the license such number only.

Rule 84.—The medical officer of every licensed vessel shall, in conjunction with the master, be responsible for the proper discharge of the duties to be performed by the establishment, and shall, in case of misconduct or neglect of his duties or of the requirements of the rules regulating transport, be liable to dismissal on the requisition of any Medical Inspector.

Rule 87.—After everything has been examined and approved of, the master or manjee, and the doctor or sirdar in charge, shall sign the provision lists; and when the Embarkation Agent is satisfied that all is correct, and that the master of the steamer, or head manjee in charge of the flotilla, has a copy of the Act and Rules, he shall license the vessels.

Rule 90.—Hospital space shall be provided for 5 per cent. of the total number of statute adults to be carried; but such space shall be allotted at double the rate allowed for healthy adults, viz. 20, or 24 superficial feet to each statute adult, according to season, making reasonable allowance for space occupied by medical stores.

Rule 97.—Four four hundred gallon iron water-tanks, each fitted with at least three large taps of simple construction, and capable of being secured against use when desirable and with a padlocked iron cover, besides a canvas over all to exclude dust, &c., shall be conveniently placed and filled, before the arrival of the steamer at the place of embarkation, with the best water available, for the exclusive use of the emigrants. Two of the tanks only shall be in use at the same time, the others being reserved as settling tanks.

Rule 98.—One or two fire-proof cabooses, fitted inside with brick and plaster, to accommodate the full number of boilers according to scale, shall be firmly secured in the after-part of the vessel, and so placed as to prevent risk of contamination from the hospital.

Rule 99.—Latrines with canvas screens in front shall be securely fitted as far aft as possible, and at some distance from the deck space for emigrants, their drinking water, and cooking places, &c.; and in every compartment a metal vessel, secured by a chain, shall be provided for drawing river water for washing purposes.

Rule 100.—There shall be two separate sets of latrines for males and females respectively, placed, if possible, on opposite sides of the deck: and each set shall consist of at least three compartments, for the use of the first 200 statute adults and under on board, and of one additional compartment for every 100 statute adults in excess of 200.

Rule 101.—Every vessel licensed to carry emigrants shall be provided with a covered trough, fitted with at least six large and simple taps placed at such distances apart as to admit of six persons abreast washing their clothes at the same time, and connected with a fixed pump for the constant supply of water therein. Two such troughs shall be provided if the number of emigrants to be carried exceeds 300 statute adults.

Rule 102.—A sufficiently large and well-protected space for bathing in shall be set apart for the use of the emigrants, and shall be fitted with a suitable shower-bath of simple construction and capable of distributing the shower over a large area, and a moveable canvas screen, to be invariably used when women are bathing. A ship's force-pump with hoses complete shall also be provided for the exclusive purpose of supplying water to the shower-bath and to the drinking water-tanks, and shall on no pretext whatever, excepting on an outbreak of fire on board, be otherwise used.

Rule 107.—A suitable compartment, approved by the Medical Inspector, shall be set apart for a dispensary, and bamboos shall be fastened, fore and aft, along the central stanchions near the emigrants' deck space to enable the emigrants to hang up their bundles and blankets for the day.

Rule 122.—Emigrant passengers other than labourers may be accommodated on board the same vessel with labourers and on the same deck, provided that the total number under conveyance does not exceed the maximum number specified in the license.

Rule 150.—All extra food and any change in diet shall be regulated by the medical officer only on his own responsibility.

Rule 151.—A constant supply of good drinking water shall be kept in the tanks. These shall be used alternately, the water in each being allowed to settle, after the addition of alum in the proportion of six grains to the gallon. The water shall be pumped directly into the tanks from the river in mid stream, and clear from all possible risk of pollution from latrines and other sources.

Rule 152.—A register shall be kept by the medical officer of the daily issue of stores which shall be filled in regularly every day and submitted for inspection to the inspecting officers when they visit the vessel at the close of the passage. This register shall be delivered by the medical officer to the Embarkation Agent.

Rule 154.—The topases shall sweep the decks morning and evening, and after every meal; and shall keep them always clean and dry. They shall also keep the latrines and bed-pans constantly clean and sprinkled with disinfecting powder or carbolic acid.

Rule 162.—Masters of vessels shall report their arrival at each inspecting station to the senior magisterial officer and to the civil medical officer; omission to do so shall entail prosecution or forfeiture of license for the future.

Rule 165.—At the end of the voyage, after the last official inspection at the place of final disembarkation, the master or medical officer in charge shall forward the way-bill in original to the Embarkation Agent at the last place of embarkation for his remarks, and for transmission to any other Embarkation Agent concerned in the shipment for his remarks and for its ultimate submission to Government through the Superintendent of Emigration at Calcutta.

It shall be, and shall be deemed always to have been, lawful to charge against any fund to which such general contribution may from time to time be, or have been, credited, any salaries, gratuities, leave allowances, or pensions of establishments which the Lieutenant-Governor may order, or has already ordered, to be so charged."

Construction of Act.

12. This Act shall be read with and taken as part of the Court of Wards Act, 1879.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of the introduction of this Bill is to remove all doubts as to the legality of charging pensions of employés of the Court of Wards upon the funds derived from Wards' estates.

The opportunity is taken to amend the existing law on several points in which experience of its working has shown that amendment is needed.

Extract from a Memorandum by the Board of Revenue,—dated 9th February 1881.

THE existence of section 17, Act XI of 1859, was evidently overlooked when Bengal Act IV of 1870 was passed; and again, when Bengal Act IX of 1879 was passed, as these Acts contain provisions for the exemption from sale of estates belonging to minors, which ignore the provisions of section 17 of Act XI of 1859 on the same subject.

The following synopsis compares the provisions of the two laws :—

Synopsis comparing Sections 23, 24, and 25 of the Bengal Wards Act, IX of 1879, with the first part of Section 17, Act XI of 1859.

| Bengal Act IX of 1879. | Section 17, Act XI of 1859. | REMARKS. |
|---|---|---|
| Section 23.—Every estate, and, subject to the provisions of section 14 of Act XI of 1859, every part or share of an estate for which a separate account has been opened under section 10 or section 11 of the said Act, or under section 70 of Bengal Act VII of 1876, shall, whilst it is under the charge of the Court, be exempt from sale for arrears of revenue. | No estate shall be liable to sale for the recovery of arrears which have accrued during the period of its being under the management of the Court of Wards. | The words italicised show a material difference between the two Acts.Act IX follows section 2, Bengal Act IV of 1870; but it is remarkable that section 4 of Act IV differs from its section 2 and follows section 17 of Act XI of 1859. |
| Provided that all arrears of revenue shall be the first charge upon the proceeds of any such estate, part, or share sold for any other cause than for arrears of revenue while under such charge. | ..... ..... | No corresponding provision in Act XI of 1859. |
| Section 24.—No estate, the sole property of a minor, or of two or more minors, and descended to him or them by the regular course of inheritance, or by virtue of the will of, or some settlement made by, some deceased owner thereof, shall be sold for arrears of revenue accruing subsequently to his or their succession to the same, until such minor, or one of such minors, has completed his age of twenty-one years. | And no estate, the sole property of a minor or minors, and descended to him or them by the regular course of inheritance duly notified to the Collector for the information of the Court of Wards, but of which the Court of Wards has not assumed the management under Regulation VI, 1832, shall be sold for arrears of revenue accruing subsequently to his or their succession to the same, until the minor or minors, or one of them, shall have attained the full age of eighteen years. | The words "or by virtue of the will of some deceased owner thereof" are introduced for the first time in section 6 of the Act of 1870, and are thence imported into section 24 of the Act of 1879.The words "or some settlement made by" appear for the first time in the Act of 1879.In the Act of 1870 the age mentioned was eighteen years. |
| But all arrears of revenue shall be the first charge upon the proceeds of such estate, if the estate is sold for any other cause during such minority. | ..... | No corresponding provision in Act XI of 1859. The words are taken from section 4 of the Act of 1870. |
| The Collector may, on an arrear so accruing on any such estate, attach the estate and collect the rents and all arrears of rent due, managing the estate either directly or through a manager, or by farming it, as he may think fit, for a period not exceeding ten years, nor extending beyond the time when such minor, or one of such minors completes his age of twenty-one years. | ..... | No similar provision in the Act of 1859. * * * * * *

The question will then be for consideration whether section 23 of the Act of 1879 shall stand as it is, or be amended.

Shall the law exempt—

(a)—Estates and shares of estates as mentioned in section 23 from sale for arrears of revenue only while any such estate or share is under the management of the Court? If so, when once the Court takes charge of the property of a Ward, no individual estate forming a part of that property can be sold even for arrears which had accrued before the Court took charge; but, on the other hand, an estate may be sold immediately after the property is released for the recovery of arrears which have accrued during the Court's management;

(b)—Or shall the law exempt such estates and shares from sale for recovery of such arrears only as have accrued during the period of their being under the management of the Court of Wards? If so, an individual estate may be sold even while the property of which it forms a part is under charge of the Court for arrears which accrued before such charge was taken; but, on the other hand, arrears of revenue due on any estate at the time of the property being released, can never be recovered by sale of the estate;

(c)—Or shall the law give protection in both cases?

First as to (a). It is quite clear that the Government should not be precluded from recovering by sale of an individual estate forming part of a property of which charge has been taken by the Court, arrears of revenue which had accrued before the Court took charge. It may be that the property is involved, and that no funds can be made available to discharge such arrears, or it may be that the estate being unprofitable, the proprietors had deliberately allowed the arrear to accrue in order to get rid of the liability for revenue by allowing that particular estate to go to sale.

If, on the other hand, it is for the interest of the Ward to save the particular estate from sale, and if funds are available, or are likely soon to be available, the Collector would certainly exercise his discretionary power of exempting the estate from sale for the arrear. Nor will it in every case be for the interest of the Ward that the Manager should be debarred from letting an individual estate go to sale immediately, and while the property is in charge of the Court for an arrear which has accrued during the Court's management. There may be no other way of getting rid of the liability of paying revenue on an over-assessed estate, or one which has deteriorated or become otherwise unprofitable to the Ward.

In a recent case, in taking over charge of a property, it was found that the proprietors had been regularly paying revenue for two estates of which no one knew anything except that they had not been in the possession of the family for years; recovery was hopelessly barred by limitation; the obvious course for the interest of the Ward was to default and let the estates be sold, and so get rid of the liability for revenue. In that case the parties in possession might have thought it worth while to complete their title by buying at the sale; if they had not done so, the Government might have bought in the estate and taken to assert its right.

But the law now does not admit of these estates being brought to sale because they are in charge of the Court; if the Managers were to default in paying the revenue the arrear must be allowed to accumulate as long as the property remains in charge of the Court, and then be written off as a bad debt; for there would be no means of recovering it, neither the Government nor the Ward could do anything to recover the estate

Under these circumstances, the Board decided in this difficult case that the least inequitable arrangement as between the State and the Ward was that the latter should go on paying in the revenue regularly till the end of his minority—some six years hence.

Whatever may be the merits of this order, it is very doubtful whether the provisions of section 48 of the Act admit of anything else being done; instalments of Government revenue are the first charge on "all moneys received by the Managers."

* * * * *

If this power of recovery of arrears by sale of the estate is not reserved to the Government, some other provision must be made for the recovery of the arrear: as the law now stands, Mr Dampier is aware of no such provision.

A recent case will illustrate these remarks A certain estate which formed the greater part of a heavily-involved property was let in farm some years ago by the Manager of the Court of Wards. The rent payable by this farmer was the mainstay of the property. As the time for the property passing out of the charge of the Court drew near, the farmer defaulted, immediately throwing the property into the greatest difficulties There were no funds from which to pay the land revenue demand on the large estate. The Manager instituted a suit and got a decree, but the decree could not be executed before the Ward reached his majority, and the property passed out of the charge of the Court. Arrears of revenue, which had accrued during the management of the Court, were therefore outstanding. The estate cannot be sold, and the law provides no other means for the recovery of the arrear, even though the judgment-debtor should at once pay to the proprietor the amount of rent due on the decree which should have been devoted to the payment of the revenue.

In another case of a small property, now pending before the Board, the property is falling into arrears of revenue, but there is reason to hope that, if it were released from the Court's expensive management, and placed under the management of the Ward's friends, it might be made to yield a surplus. If, however, the Board release the property while an arrear of revenue is due, the amount may be irretrievably lost. The Ward is a lunatic, and no one would enter into a personal bond undertaking to make good the amount of arrear.

Such cases as these show that if absolute protection is given from sale for arrears accruing during the management of the Court of Wards, there is some danger of the original object of the establishment of the Court's jurisdiction being missed. The object was to protect the State from loss of revenue, but now to take an estate under the management of the Court is certainly to enhance the risk of losing revenue.

Extract from a letter from the Commissioner of the Presidency Division to the Board of Revenue, No. 294, dated 27th January 1881.

BABOO KALICHURN GHOSE, the Manager of the Narail estate in Jessore, draws attention to sections 48 and 49 of the Wards' Act. "These sections," he remarks, "refer to priority in the application of the funds of a Ward. It is, I submit, absolutely impracticable to work these sections. The wording of section 48 appears, again, not to be clear, and it omits important classes of expenditure, such as rent and cesses due to private proprietors. As the section stands, the Manager is required in every instance to apply to the Court for sanction to the application of money received by him. He cannot regulate his expenditure under any general orders of the Court. I think these omissions should now be supplied, and the defects noticed removed. It is doubtful whether the Court has any authority to give precedence to expenditure mentioned in section 49, to that described in section 48. In practice, however, we cannot avoid doing so. If a creditor threatens to sell an estate, we are obliged to pay him whether there are any arrears of maintenance allowance due to the guardian or not; further, several of our Hindoo Wards keep up an establishment for the daily worship of certain idols, and no rigid Hindoo would take his food before the idols are worshipped. We cannot starve the family, and must therefore meet the daily Puja expenses along with the charges for the support of the family. Again, we maintain a school at our expense, and to keep up its efficiency, the establishment must be regularly paid, whether the accounts of the estate have been consolidated, or whether a bonâ fide surplus can be discovered or not, before the books are finally closed at the end of the year. I submit, therefore, for your consideration, whether a set of rules which are ignored in practice should remain in the Statute Book. It would, perhaps, be better if the law were only to legalize the different classes of expenditure, leaving the question of priority to be settled in each case by the local officers, under such general instructions as the Court may in that behalf issue. In connection with this subject, I may be permitted to add, that interest on debts payable by a Ward should be treated differently from the original debts. I believe the interest on the public debt is considered the first charge on the net revenue of Government, and in this view the interest payable by a Ward on his debts should, in point of priority, come after the payment of revenue, rent, and the cesses.

"The provisions of sections 48 and 49 cannot be strictly followed in practice. Section 48 omits to include expenditure incurred on account of rent and cesses due to proprietors other than Government. The Manager has to ask for sanction of the Court of Wards under such circumstances, and considerable inconvenience is felt for the want of any general rules to guide his expenditure. As the law at present stands, it seems to be doubtful whether the Court of Wards has any authority to give precedence to the classes of expenditure mentioned in section 49 to those mentioned in section 48. In practice, however, the rule of precedence of different classes of expenditure, laid down by those two sections, is very difficult to be observed, and in many instances, as in the case of a threatened sale of a minor's estate for his debts, cannot at all be acted upon. It seems, therefore, desirable that some better rule should be laid down to regulate the expenditure of minors in place of the provisions of sections 48 and 49 which are in a practical point of view considered as obsolete."

Collector's remarks.—Section 49 might possibly be advantageously amended, for, as it stands, it is clear that until all the claims contemplated in section 48 have been fully paid for, no expenditure can be made under section 49, because no bonâ fide surplus can be shown. In practice, this is often impossible. I would suggest, therefore, that section 49 be altered so as to run somewhat in this form :—

"The Court, if satisfied that all possible provision has been made for the payment of the charges specified in the last preceding section, may direct, according to the circumstances of the property concerned, the payment of money in liquidation of debts payable by the Ward, &c., &c."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to give legal effect to the loan arrangements lately entered into between the Government of India and the Calcutta Municipality; also to provide for the repayment of municipal loans, which may be advanced by the public by extending the term of repayment from 30 to 60 years, or reducing the contribution to the Sinking Fund from 2 to 1 per cent.; to provide for the payment by the Municipality of a proportional sum towards the pensions of certain officers included in the Police budget; to give power to the Corporation to extend the water-supply to the suburbs, and to impose a water-rate upon the suburbs sufficient to cover all costs; to extend the powers of the Corporation with regard to the reclamation of bustees; to make provisions for the better regulation of drug-shops and for the employment of certificated compounders therein; and to make such other amendments in the provisions of the existing law as have suggested themselves by practical experience.

The reasons for these amendments will be found in detail in the Proceedings of the Council of the 19th February 1881.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page, by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 18. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Captain Allan Cunningham's table, "Prof., Papers on Indian Engineering, No. CXIII." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 18 on the preceding page, by adding 1° Fahrenheit for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Cloud.—This column gives the average proportion of clouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by 0, and one completely overcast by 1 0.

The above, being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which will show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the barograph and thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Decrease.

Firewood ... ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 8,318
This decrease is due to less import at Canning.

Hay ... ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 2,220
The price of hay being too low at selling stations, merchants are waiting for favourable market, and they have stacked it for the present.

Wooloo ... ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 1,260
The use of wooloo being against municipal ruling, there is no demand at selling stations.

Straw and paddy ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 2,876
The produce of straw and paddy being abundant all over Bengal, the demand at selling stations is comparatively less.

Increase.

Rice ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 5,678
The increase is due to the working of rice-mill at Canning earlier this year.

Building materials and coal ... ... ... ... Mds. 17,993
The increase is due to the Mugra extension.

Sundries ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 625
Increase is due to the demand of sundry articles being greater at Canning and at Sonapur.

NOTIFICATION.

The 3rd March 1881.—The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased, under Section 4 of Act VII (B.C.) of 1873, to direct the substitution of the following rules regulating the transport of labour to the Tea Districts of Assam for the corresponding rules at present in force.

Rule 79.—The master of any vessel intending to apply for a license to carry more than twenty emigrant passengers, shall provide the permanent fittings as prescribed in the rules; and shall thereafter apply in writing to the Superintendent of Emigration at Calcutta, or other officer duly empowered by the local Government, for an inspection of such fittings, and of the legal capacity of the deck space for the accommodation of such passengers.

Rule 80.—The Superintendent or other officer shall thereupon examine the fittings, and after satisfying himself that the requirements of the rules have been complied with, shall grant a certificate of approval specifying the number of emigrant passengers that the vessel may carry.

Rule 81.—The master of any vessel intending to carry labourers as emigrant passengers under his license, shall provide the following:—

(a) Stores, medicines, medical comforts, and cooking utensils in accordance with the requirements of Schedules B. C. and D.

(b) A medical officer licensed by the Medical Inspector or other officer so empowered.

(c) The establishment of attendants as prescribed in Schedule E.

Rule 82.—On arrival at the place of embarkation, the master desiring a license shall make a written application to the Embarkation Agent, or other officer duly empowered by the local Government, and shall be prepared for survey by clearing the whole or such portion of the deck space as may be intended for the accommodation of emigrant passengers; and, if labourers are to be carried, by having the prescribed provisions and other stores arranged conveniently for examination.

Rule 83.—The Embarkation Agent or other officer as aforesaid, on receipt of the application for license, shall, in consultation with the Medical Inspector, hold the survey of the vessel's fittings and available space, and, if labourers are to be carried, of the requisite stores, at which both master and medical officer are to be present. The certificate of approval granted under Rule 80 shall be produced by the master at such survey, and the Embarkation Agent or other officer as aforesaid shall accept the permanent fittings as therein described on satisfying himself that they have not since been altered or damaged; and shall also, in the event of the entire deck space being reserved for emigrant passengers, accept and enter in the license, which he may in his discretion grant to the master, the number such space is stated in the certificate to be capable of accommodating; but, if only a part of such space be reserved, he shall, after ascertaining the number that may be accommodated therein, specify in the license such number only.

Rule 84.—The medical officer of every licensed vessel shall, in conjunction with the master, be responsible for the proper discharge of the duties to be performed by the establishment, and shall, in case of misconduct or neglect of his duties or of the requirements of the rules regulating transport, be liable to dismissal on the requisition of any Medical Inspector.

Rule 87.—After everything has been examined and approved of, the master or manjee, and the doctor or sirdar in charge, shall sign the provision lists; and when the Embarkation Agent is satisfied that all is correct, and that the master of the steamer, or head manjee in charge of the flotilla, has a copy of the Act and Rules, he shall license the vessels.

Rule 90.—Hospital space shall be provided for 5 per cent. of the total number of statute adults to be carried; but such space shall be allotted at double the rate allowed for healthy adults, viz. 20, or 24 superficial feet to each statute adult, according to season, making reasonable allowance for space occupied by medical stores.

Rule 97.—Four four hundred gallon iron water-tanks, each fitted with at least three large taps of simple construction, and capable of being secured against use when desirable and with a padlocked iron cover, besides a canvas over all to exclude dust, &c., shall be conveniently placed and filled, before the arrival of the steamer at the place of embarkation, with the best water available, for the exclusive use of the emigrants. Two of the tanks only shall be in use at the same time, the others being reserved as settling tanks.

Rule 98.—One or two fire-proof cabooses, fitted inside with brick and plaster, to accommodate the full number of boilers according to scale, shall be firmly secured in the after-part of the vessel, and so placed as to prevent risk of contamination from the hospital.

Rule 99.—Latrines with canvas screens in front shall be securely fitted as far aft as possible, and at some distance from the deck space for emigrants, their drinking water, and cooking places, &c.; and in every compartment a metal vessel, secured by a chain, shall be provided for drawing river water for washing purposes.

Rule 100.—There shall be two separate sets of latrines for males and females respectively, placed, if possible, on opposite sides of the deck: and each set shall consist of at least three compartments, for the use of the first 200 statute adults and under on board, and of one additional compartment for every 100 statute adults in excess of 200.

Rule 101.—Every vessel licensed to carry emigrants shall be provided with a covered trough, fitted with at least six large and simple taps placed at such distances apart as to admit of six persons abreast washing their clothes at the same time, and connected with a fixed pump for the constant supply of water therein. Two such troughs shall be provided if the number of emigrants to be carried exceeds 300 statute adults.

Rule 102.—A sufficiently large and well-protected space for bathing in shall be set apart for the use of the emigrants, and shall be fitted with a suitable shower-bath of simple construction and capable of distributing the shower over a large area, and a moveable canvas screen, to be invariably used when women are bathing. A ship's force-pump with hoses complete shall also be provided for the exclusive purpose of supplying water to the shower-bath and to the drinking water-tanks, and shall on no pretext whatever, excepting on an outbreak of fire on board, be otherwise used.

Rule 107.—A suitable compartment, approved by the Medical Inspector, shall be set apart for a dispensary, and bamboos shall be fastened, fore and aft, along the central stanchions near the emigrants' deck space to enable the emigrants to hang up their bundles and blankets for the day.

Rule 122.—Emigrant passengers other than labourers may be accommodated on board the same vessel with labourers and on the same deck, provided that the total number under conveyance does not exceed the maximum number specified in the license.

Rule 150.—All extra food and any change in diet shall be regulated by the medical officer only on his own responsibility.

Rule 151.—A constant supply of good drinking water shall be kept in the tanks. These shall be used alternately, the water in each being allowed to settle, after the addition of alum in the proportion of six grains to the gallon. The water shall be pumped directly into the tanks from the river in mid stream, and clear from all possible risk of pollution from latrines and other sources.

Rule 152.—A register shall be kept by the medical officer of the daily issue of stores which shall be filled in regularly every day and submitted for inspection to the inspecting officers when they visit the vessel at the close of the passage. This register shall be delivered by the medical officer to the Embarkation Agent.

Rule 154.—The topasses shall sweep the decks morning and evening, and after every meal; and shall keep them always clean and dry. They shall also keep the latrines and bed-pans constantly clean and sprinkled with disinfecting powder or carbolic acid.

Rule 162.—Masters of vessels shall report their arrival at each inspecting station to the senior magisterial officer and to the civil medical officer; omission to do so shall entail prosecution or forfeiture of license for the future.

Rule 165.—At the end of the voyage, after the last official inspection at the place of final disembarkation, the master or medical officer in charge shall forward the way-bill in original to the Embarkation Agent at the last place of embarkation for his remarks, and for transmission to any other Embarkation Agent concerned in the shipment for his remarks and for its ultimate submission to Government through the Superintendent of Emigration at Calcutta.

"The local Government may, by notification in the Government Gazette, within any specified tract of country, exempt any exciseable article or foreign exciseable article from all or any of the provisions of this Act, and may from time to time by a like notification cancel such exemption."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE necessity for amending the Excise Act of 1878 has been brought to the notice of Government partly by a representation from the Board of Revenue, and partly by a communication from the Chief Commissioner of Assam. The Board have pointed out the practical inconvenience which results from the wording of section 58, which restricts the punishment for the illegal introduction, into one Excise Circle, of liquors manufactured beyond the limits of that Circle, to cases in which such liquors are introduced for the purpose of sale. It is practically impossible to prove that liquor is intended to be sold until it has actually been offered for sale; and the law has consequently been evaded to the serious detriment of the public revenue.

The Chief Commissioner of Assam has urged that the Act, as it stands, does not meet some cases of what may be termed "foreign exciseable articles" It appears that wild ganja, which pays no tax, grows plentifully in the hills to the north of Assam, and is smuggled to a considerable extent into the plains, but as the place of its production is beyond the limits of British India, the Act does not authorize any interference with this traffic so long as it is carried on in quantities not exceeding a quarter of a seer. A further difficulty has been found in the working of section 64, which refers to liquors manufactured at any place in India beyond the limits of British India, but does not include such as are manufactured at places in British India in which no excise law is in force. The Jynteah Hills are referred to as an example of such a place.

It is proposed to introduce a short amending Act to meet these difficulties.

THE following report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill, as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

WE, the undersigned members of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to whom the Bill to amend The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876, was referred, have the honour to make the following report:—

We have considered the question of providing, by law, for the consolidation of the Government loans, and the handing over to Government of the Sinking Fund held against those loans—an operation already carried into effect. From an examination of the wording of Bengal Act I of 1872 and of Chapter XV of the present Calcutta Municipal Act, it appears to us that the arrangements between Government and the Municipality in respect of Government loans were not intended in any way to be affected by the provisions of the Municipal Acts, and that the Sinking or Reserve Fund, provided for by section 337 of the present Act, had reference solely to the fund formed by setting aside two per cent on the total amount of the debenture loans contracted by the Commissioners under the provisions of former Acts. This being so, it is only necessary to make the intention of the law clear by inserting words in the penultimate clause of that section to show that the moneys and securities which are to be held by the Municipal Trustees "upon the trusts declared" in that section, did not include any moneys held as a Sinking Fund against sums borrowed from Government.

In respect of Sinking Fund provision against debenture loans, contracted under the Act of 1876, section 334 gives the Government full power to make all necessary stipulations, if section 337 is held not to require the calculation of Sinking Fund percentage upon the amount of such loans.

We have, however, by a separate section, provided that, in respect of future loans on account of drainage and water-supply, the Sinking Fund may be reduced to one per cent. on the net amount of such loans outstanding at the beginning of each year.

We have also considered the question of providing for an extension of the water-supply to the suburbs. We are all (with the exception of Baboo Kristodas Pal) of opinion that the simplest way of effecting this is to follow the lines of section 168 of the present Act, under which the local Government may declare any portions of the environs to be part of the town for the purposes of the drainage scheme. In the same manner if the local Government is empowered to declare any portion of the environs to be part of the town for the purposes of the water-supply, all the legislative sanction necessary will be given. The Government will then be in a position to act as supreme arbitrator between the Calcutta Corporation and the Suburban Municipalities. It is not necessary for the law to take cognizance of the details of any particular scheme of water supply. We have, however, been shown grounds for believing that if the town should determine to have a 62-inch main for its own purposes without any reference to possible suburban demand, and should therefore be willing to charge against the suburbs only the cost of the necessary extensions and the increased pumping and filtering apparatus necessitated by such extensions, the levy in the suburbs of the same water-rate as in the town would give the town a very large interest on the capital so charged against the suburbs. Even if it be thought fair to charge against the suburbs a portion of the extra cost involved in having a 62-inch main, it seems improbable that the levy of an equal rate in town and suburbs would cause any loss to the town. We have, however, thought it safest to provide for the possible levy of a differential rate in the suburbs, if the Government should be convinced that good reason exists for allowing such a rate; but we restrict this to the maximum already allowed by the Act, as that appears to us, on the figures available to us, not only as much as the suburbs ought to bear, but as much as they can possibly afford to pay. It has been pointed out to us that the reduction of the contribution to Sinking Fund in the case of future water-supply and drainage loans has been allowed by Government only on the understanding that such works are permanent in character, and that the suburbs are to be brought on equitable terms within the water-supply. The Government would, it appears, refuse to recognise anything short of a 62-inch main as a permanent and satisfactory settlement of the water-supply question, even for the town itself. This being so, we think that the Corporation is bound to recognize a certain solidarity in this matter between the suburbs and the town, and it cannot fairly claim the right of charging against the suburbs expenditure which it could not in any case avoid. The difference between a one per cent. and two per cent. Sinking Fund is a material advantage which the town should set off against any little extra expenditure caused by the inclusion of the suburbs.

BABOO KRISTODAS PAL has recorded his views on the subject separately.

The rest of us dissent from this view, holding not only that the town has a real and strong interest in the sanitary condition and well-being of its suburbs, but that it owes some consideration to the residents of those parts, nearly all of whom work in the town and contribute to its wealth.

We have provided that the Suburban Municipalities shall, if required, assess and collect the water-rate for the Commissioners.

We come now to the minor amendments made by us in the Bill.

We have exempted from the operation of section 39 of the Act all officers and servants whose pensions are otherwise provided for under section 15 of the Bill.

In section 54 of the Act we have made the call for tenders and the approval of the Committee of the Commissioners unnecessary in all contracts over a thousand rupees entered into by the Commissioners in meeting.

We have altered section 77 of the Act so as to enable the court inflicting the fine to pay from the amount so obtained the sum due as license to the Commissioners.

We have made the provisions of section 96 of the Act applicable to night-soil fees.

We have made the operation of section 16 of the Bill contingent on the direction of the local Government with the sanction of the Governor-General.

In section 277 of the Act we have fixed a limit of 14 days after receipt of notice within which the Commissioners must decide whether they will interfere or not in respect of the erection of huts.

We have made it clear that the sanction of the local Government must be obtained to any scheme of improvement: and that, when such sanction is obtained, the municipal funds may legally be spent in carrying out such scheme.

We have added a clause to section 21 of the Bill making it imperative upon the Commissioners, in the event of their undertaking to carry out the scheme of improvement themselves, to complete such work within two years unless the time is extended by the direction of the local Government. The clause also provides for the ultimate disposal of the lands so purchased or leased by the Commissioners. It is not considered desirable that the Commissioners should hold improved lands permanently, or become in a general way owners of house-property. We have in other respects amended the wording and arrangement of the section.

We have provided that the word "drug" used in the first clause of section 23 of the Bill shall, for the purposes of that clause, not apply to articles of ordinary domestic consumption. We have also provided for the granting of a license to all keepers of drug-shops affected by the clause, and for the exposure of such license in some conspicuous part of the shop or place.

We have enlarged the scope of the second clause of the same section by prohibiting the sale of any drug in any shop registered under the first clause except by persons duly certified under the provisions of that clause.

The penal provisions of the third clause of the same section have also been altered to meet the changes effected in the clause immediately preceding, and the forfeiture of license has been included among the penalties liable to be incurred upon infraction of the provisions of the section by the keeper of a retail drug-shop.

In section 26 of the Bill we have prohibited the sale of articles used for the cremation of bodies by any but licensed vendors within a range of three hundred yards of the burning ground, and added a penalty not exceeding a fine of fifty rupees to follow upon the contravention of this rule.

We have made a few other verbal alterations, and recommend that the Bill, as amended by us, be passed.

DISSENT.

I DISSENT from the view taken by my colleagues as to the terms on which the Calcutta water-supply should be extended to the suburbs. I am quite willing to see the benefit of the Calcutta water-supply extended to the suburbs, but hold that this should not be done at the expense of the town. I am of opinion that the extension should be made either by admitting the Suburban Municipality into a co-partnership with the Calcutta Municipality, or by selling water to the suburbs on the ordinary commercial principle. According to the first view, it appears that the increased supply of water from the extension of the present scheme would be twelve millions of gallons, of which two-thirds would be kept for the town and one-third would be given to the suburbs. The cost of construction and maintenance of the works I consider should be divided between the town and the suburbs on the same principle and in the same proportion. This would involve a charge of Rs. 1,80,893 upon the suburbs per annum, which the Suburban Municipality says, it is not in a position to pay. To apply the commercial principle strictly would not be advantageous to the suburbs, for in that case the seller might well claim the right of selling his own commodity at his own price. Considering, however, the community of interests between the town and the suburbs, I am quite willing to charge the suburbs only the out-of-pocket expenses, which will be incurred by the town in extending the supply to the suburbs. The data for the calculation of these expenses are roughly given in some of the papers of the Calcutta Corporation laid before the Select Committee. In calculating these expenses, the main point on which I am at issue with the majority is about the cost of the 62-inch main. I hold that a 42-inch main would double the supply of the town, that a 62-inch main would be necessary for the extension of the supply to the suburbs, and that the difference in the cost of the bigger main should in equity be borne by the latter. Following this principle, the capital outlay on suburban works, including interest during construction, would be in round numbers Rs. 15,50,000. The other items are not disputed. The figures, which have been furnished to me by the Engineer to the Calcutta Corporation, stand thus—

| | Rs. |
|---|---|
| Interest on capital outlay ... ... | 77,500 |
| Contribution to Sinking Fund at one per cent. ... | 15,500 |
| Working charges ... ... ... | 38,000 |
| Cost of renewal of works at five per cent. on iron works and one per cent. on brick culvert ... | 38,000 |
| Total ... | 1,69,000 |

An equal rate for town and suburbs is delusive, for one per cent. rate on assessed house property in town is productive of nearly six times as much as the same in the suburbs, that is to say, while one per cent. rate produces in Calcutta about Rs. 1,30,000 per annum, the same for the area of the suburbs estimated yields Rs. 24,547 per ditto.

The maximum water-rate proposed for the suburbs is six per cent. per annum, and as one per cent. rate in the suburbs, for the area to be supplied with water, is calculated to be equal to Rs. 24,547, a six per cent. water-rate would yield Rs. 1,47,282, leaving a deficit of Rs. 21,718. The question is whether the rate-payers of Calcutta can be fairly called upon to make up this deficit from their own pockets. It is on this point I am at issue with my colleagues, and as they would apparently saddle the town with this burden, I cannot agree with them. There are other points which I do not consider it necessary to notice here. I have no objection to the provision giving power to the Lieutenant-Governor to declare the suburbs as a part of the town for purposes of water-supply, but I think that the Government is bound to see that the town is not made to bear the burden of the suburbs in carrying out the orders of Government. It is observable that when I accepted the concession of Government to reduce the contribution to the Sinking Fund on account of future drainage and water-supply loans from two per cent. to one per cent. on the understanding that the 62-inch main should be adopted in order to enable the Calcutta Corporation to extend the water-supply to the suburbs, I did not for a moment understand that the town should bear any portion of the legitimate burden of the suburbs. The reduction of the Sinking Fund contribution would be a benefit common to the town and the suburbs. It would be a relief to the present generation of tax-payers, both in the town and in the suburbs. To call upon the town to make up the deficit of the suburbs on account of the extension of the supply would be to neutralize the benefit accorded to it by the reduction of the Sinking Fund contribution—in fact, it would be taking away with one hand the boon which has been conferred by the other.

The HON'BLE AMEER ALI.

BURIAL BOARDS (CALCUTTA AND ITS SUBURBS).

THE HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE moved for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the appointment of a Burial Board in Calcutta and its suburbs.

He said that the condition of the older Calcutta burial-grounds had frequently of late years attracted the notice of Government, and been unfavourably commented on by the public. The two cemeteries in the neighbourhood of Park-street had long since ceased to be used for purposes of general interment, and were fast lapsing into a state of ruin and disrepair. The monuments, consisting chiefly of those vast masses of brickwork which our predecessors were wont to pile over the remains of their departed friends, were falling in many cases to pieces, and there was no authority at present vested with power to deal with them. Even in the Circular Road grounds, though matters were of course not so bad, there was still in the older portions of the cemetery much disorder and untidiness from the want of a controlling authority competent to direct the repair, removal, or alteration of broken-down tombs. At the same time, owing to the fact that this cemetery was used by three different sections of the community—the Church of England, the Roman Catholic body, and the Non-Conformists—there was a want of uniformity and neatness in the manner in which the grounds were kept, the monuments put up, and other work done The establishments were, moreover, under no proper control. It was proposed therefore to provide by law for the appointment of a Burial Board, in which should be represented the Calcutta Corporation, the Health Department of the Town, the Public Works Department of Government, and, as far as possible, the clergy and laity of the different religious bodies using the cemeteries. To this Board would be made over the control and management of all the Government cemeteries. Power was also taken to enable those interested in private cemeteries to make them over to the management of the Board on such terms as regards the defrayal of expenses and the like as the Lieutenant-Governor might approve.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie said the Bill had already been published under the authority contained in Rule 15 of the Rules for the Conduct of Business, and although much public attention had not been drawn to the subject, the matter was a simple one, and there could, he believed, be no possible objection to the Bill being at once read in Council and referred to a Select Committee for consideration. He therefore applied to His Honor the President to suspend the rules in order that the Bill might be read in Council.

The President having declared the rules suspended—

The Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie moved that the Bill be read in Council. The Bill, he said, provided for the appointment of a Burial Board, in which the Calcutta Corporation and its Health Department would be represented, as well as the Public Works Department of the Government, and the three Christian bodies now using the cemeteries—viz the Church of England, the Roman Catholic Church, and the Non-Conformists; the Chairman of the Board being appointed by the Government. The Bill gave power to bring under the control of the Board all or so many of the Government burial-grounds (not being military burial-grounds) situated in the town or suburbs of Calcutta, as might seem fit to the Lieutenant-Governor. The Board would receive and account for fees paid for the use of burial-grounds and the erection of monuments therein, and for any Government grants placed at their disposal. They were empowered to appoint and control their own subordinate establishment The Bill also provided for the making of bye-laws; for regulating the conduct of business; for securing the preservation, repair, or removal of existing monuments, and for regulating the dimensions and erection of new monuments; for regulating the mode of payment of fees and charges, and the expenditure of the same; and for controlling the execution of all works within burial-grounds. These last were the most important provisions of the Bill, which were intended to give the Burial Board full power and control over the working of cemeteries. There was also inserted in the Bill a provision to meet cases like the following: There were several minor burial-grounds belonging to small communities—for instance, the Scotch, Armenian, Greek, and other cemeteries—which were at present managed by the communities to which they belonged. These communities might perhaps sometime or other wish to have their burial-grounds placed under the control of the Board, which they might consider, with the experience it would possess in the management of cemeteries, would be better able to administer the trust than private bodies liable to frequent changes and having no legal powers Accordingly power was taken under the Bill to bring such private grounds under the control of the Board on the application of those interested, on such terms and conditions as the Lieutenant-Governor might approve.

The motion was agreed to, and the Bill referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Messrs. Reynolds, Allen, Prestage, and the Mover, with instructions to report within a week.

AMENDMENT OF THE EXCISE ACT.

THE HON'BLE MR REYNOLDS moved for leave to bring in a Bill to amend "The Bengal Excise Act, 1878," and in doing so, he said that the amendment of the Excise Act had been urged upon the Government from two different quarters. First the Board of Revenue reported that they found a practical difficulty in the working of section 58 of the Act. Section 9 authorized the Collector to fix the limits within which liquors, not manufactured at a licensed distillery, should not be introduced or sold without a pass, but section 58, the corresponding section which provided a penalty for breach of an offence against section 9, declared that whoever introduced or attempted to introduce for sale any spirituous liquors manufactured at another place, into the limits fixed for the consumption of such liquors manufactured at such distillery, without a special pass, should be liable to a fine. The Board pointed out that, a great practical difficulty had arisen from the insertion in section 58 of the words "for sale." The difficulty was that when liquor was found in transit, or in the act of being introduced from one circle to another, it was impossible to show that it was intended for sale, while in the case of an actual sale it was difficult to prove that the liquor which was sold was the very liquor which had been introduced from another circle.

The other quarter from which reference was made to the Government for the amendment of the Act was the Chief Commissioner of Assam, who urged that the Act did not meet some cases of what might be termed "foreign exciseable articles." These were dealt with by section 19 of the Act, which provided that spirituous liquor, manufactured beyond the limits of British India, should, on passing the limits of the territories to which the Act applied, be charged with duty, and the corresponding section which provided a penalty was section 64, which declared that any person found in illicit possession of spirituous liquors, manufactured beyond the limits of British India, should be liable to fine. It appeared, however, that in Assam there were certain parts of the province which were not beyond the limits of British India, but in which no excise law was in force, for instance, the Jynteah Hills, and in consequence that section did not apply to those territories, and liquor had been introduced from the Jynteah Hills where it was not subject to the payment of duty on manufacture, and the section did not admit of the levy of duty on such liquor. Section 64 was also imperfect in another particular, inasmuch as it applied only to spirituous liquors and not to intoxicating drugs. It appeared that gunja grew plentifully in the hills in a wild state, and under section 61 and section 64, as they stood, no one was liable to any penalty for being in possession of such gunja as long as it was held in quantities not exceeding a quarter of a seer. It was represented by the Chief Commissioner that there was a considerable illicit traffic in gunja which was brought from the hills beyond British territory into Assam, and it was desired that measures should be taken to put a stop to this.

As MR. REYNOLDS was at present only moving for leave to introduce a Bill, it was not necessary for him to explain in detail the provisions which the Bill would contain.

The motion was agreed to.

AMENDMENT OF THE COURT OF WARDS ACT.

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved that the Bill to amend "The Court of Wards Act, 1879," be read in Council. He said that in asking permission to introduce this Bill, he made some remarks on points which now stood embodied in sections 2 and 3 of the Bill, and it would not be necessary for him to touch on those points again. He should therefore proceed at once to section 4 which contained a re-arrangement of sections 48 and 49 of the present Act. Those sections provided that the funds which came into the hands of a Manager should be expended for certain purposes in a certain order of priority. Hon'ble Members, who had read the annexures to the Bill, would see that it was found impossible to adhere to that order of priority in practice; for instance, the Manager of the Narail Estate reported that a good Hindu would not take his food until the family idols were worshipped, but according to law, the Manager was not authorized to pay for pooja expenses until certain other things were provided for, and if the law was to be obeyed, he would, in certain cases, be obliged to starve his ward. Managers of wards' estates had a right to ask for such protection as could, by reasonable forethought, be devised against the necessity of breaking the law in such cases. MR. DAMPIER had accordingly endeavoured to recast these sections so that they should be more workable. He believed that the Council would consider the really important point in these sections to be the limit that was put on the expenditure of not more than 10 per cent. of the surplus proceeds of the estate on purposes of general benefit and improvement of the ward and his estate. MR DAMPIER had defined the restriction and limitation more precisely than it was defined in the Act. It was necessary under the existing law to obtain the special permission of the Lieutenant-Governor in such cases before a larger proportion than 10 per cent. of the surplus was so used: in that respect is was not proposed to weaken the check which the law imposed on the action of the Court of Wards.

Then, in the section which was substituted for section 49, MR. DAMPIER had tried also to express the meaning of the law more precisely, but he had put in a new proviso for the protection of the Court. According to the existing law, the surplus funds of an estate, belonging to a female who was of sound mind, and above the age of 21, was to be paid to her without question: as the law stood, she could claim the surplus at any moment. But it was obvious that the Collector, before handing over the accumulated surplus, must keep a working balance in his hands, and it was reasonable that he should also keep a sufficient balance to meet any considerable expenditure of which the necessity could be foreseen and which could not probably be met out of the profits of the following year. These provisions were therefore introduced for the protection of the officers who had the management of the estate.

The next provision to which MR. DAMPIER would refer, was contained in section 7 of the Bill, and related to suits instituted by female wards who had attained the age of 21 years. This was a new provision, and he did not know whether it would meet with the approval of the Council. It had been suggested by a practical difficulty in the working of the Act, and he hoped to get the opinion of the learned Advocate-General on it before the Bill was passed.

The next section was section 8 of the Bill, which was intended to meet the difficulty of getting accounts from farmers in wards' estates: the section was taken from a provision in the Land Registration Act, which was accepted by the Council as the best possible procedure. It was provided that the Collector could impose a daily fine on a farmer until he produced the accounts.

Section 10 of the Bill was to remedy a defect in the Public Demands Recovery Act. As the Act stood, the application of the Manager of a ward's estate to the Collector for a certificate for the recovery of arrears of rent must be on stamped paper. It had been discovered that, by an oversight, the Act did not provide for the recovery of the interest on the arrears, of the cost of the stamp, or of the costs of executing the certificate, so that if the ward's Manager elected to proceed for recovery of arrears of rent due by the certificate procedure, he must either give up the interest due and the costs, or proceed to recover them by the separate procedure of a civil suit. The section by which it was proposed to remedy this omission would stand as section 63 of the Wards Act of 1879, taking the place of the section of the Act on the same subject which originally bore the same number, and which had been repealed by the Public Demands Recovery Act.

The last section of the Bill provided for the recovery from those into whose hands any portion of the ward's property had passed from the charge of the Collector, after its release, of any expenses which had been incurred by the Court on account of the property, in cases in which, in consequence of want of funds, oversight, or any other cause, such expenses had not been paid out of the funds of the ward's property before it was released from the charge of the Court.

The HON'BLE AMEER ALI said there was one point which he thought it proper and convenient to bring to the notice of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill at this stage. It was a point which had struck several practical lawyers, and could be discussed in Select Committee, and, if thought proper, could be included in the amended Bill which the Committee would submit for the consideration of the Council. It was a difficulty which had arisen with reference to section 27 of Act IX of 1879, which provided as follows :—

"Whenever any Collector has reason to believe that any person residing in his district, or being the proprietor of an estate borne on the revenue-roll of his district, should be declared or adjudged to be a disqualified proprietor under section 6, he shall make such enquiry as he may deem necessary, and, if satisfied, that such person should be so declared or adjudged, shall make a report of the same to the court; and the court shall, on receipt of such report, make such order consistent with this Act as may seem to it expedient"

Thus it would be seen that it lay in the hands of the Collector to make a report, and the Court of Wards made an order with reference to the person so reported to be disqualified as might be consistent with this Act. Section 6 defined who the disqualified proprietors were, one class of such persons being minors, and a minor was defined by the Act to mean a person who had not completed the age of twenty-one. It appeared to MR. AMEER ALI that these provisions of the Court of Wards Act involved some degree of inconsistency with the Indian Majority Act IX of 1875. That Act declared that a person who was not a Ward of Court, or for whom a guardian was not appointed by a Court of Justice, should be considered a major on the completion of his eighteenth year; but the Court of Wards Act provided that a person was a minor who had not completed his twenty-first year; so that under the lastmentioned Act a person who had under the Indian Majority Act entered into the enjoyment of all his legal rights, and had become vested with all the legal capacities of a major, might, on the report of a Collector, be deprived of those capacities, and be declared disqualified and incompetent to enter into any legal transaction. MR. AMEER ALI thought that the inconsistency to which he had called attention might, if possible, be removed, and therefore mentioned the point for the consideration of the Select Committee. The conflict existing between the two Acts was likely to occasion much hardship to people who entered bona fide into transactions with a person who was a major under Act IX of 1875, but who, under the Court of Wards Act, was declared a disqualified proprietor.

THE HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAL said he could not allow this occasion to pass without acknowledging the liberality of Government in recognizing and rewarding the eminent services of DR. RAJENDRALALA MITRA to the cause of literature to his country, as well as to the State. Those services were well known and highly appreciated not only in this country but also in Europe. The object of the Bill was primarily to give validity to the pension which the Government had been kind enough to grant to him, and BABOO KRISTODAS PAL felt sure that the native public would hail with pleasure and gratitude this generous recognition of the distinguished services of this illustrious man.

With regard to the remarks which had fallen from the Hon'ble Member on his right (MR AMEER ALI), he could not concur with his Hon'ble Friend as to the propriety of re-opening the question of the age of minors under the Court of Wards. He must say that that question had been discussed threadbare and settled after long and mature deliberation. He thought it was to the advantage of the proprietors of estates that the period of the nonage of minors under the Court of Wards had been extended to twenty-one years. It had not unfrequently been found that young men suddenly coming into the possession of large properties without having their character properly formed and their judgment matured, fell into the hands of intriguers around them, and he thought the provision of law which enabled the Court of Wards to keep charge of an estate until the proprietor had attained the age of twenty-one years was calculated to prove highly beneficial to him.

The HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE, in reference to the question of the age of majority, said that in spite of what had fallen from his hon'ble friend opposite (BABOO KRISTODAS PAL), he thought it advisable that the matter should be considered by the Select Committee. It was not proposed by the hon'ble member who spoke first (MR. AMEER ALI), as he understood him, to reduce the age of majority, but to draw attention to the fact that when a person who might come under the Court of Wards had attained the age of 18, it was uncertain, as the law stands, whether he was a minor or a major. Apparently the Court of Wards could take charge of his estates at any time up to his reaching the age of 21. There was nothing in the Act compelling the Court to come to a final decision about taking over the estate on the first occasion of its becoming aware of the disability. In a recent case, where a large proprietor had entered into the possession of his estate at the age of 18 years, it had been found useful by Government to have the power of check given, by its being apparently able to direct the interference of the Court of Wards at any time, although so long as the property was well managed, Government did not wish to interfere. There might, however, be some question of the legal effect of such a course of action, and some difficulty in defining the position of such a minor-major, and it was just as well that the Select Committee should look into the matter in order to see whether any further definition or explanation of minority or majority was desirable

His Honor the President said that before putting the question he wished to say, with reference to the remarks which had fallen from the Hon'ble Member on the left (Mr. Amir Ali), that he was very much averse to any such alteration in the age of majority under the Court of Wards Act, which should have the effect of preventing the Government from interfering for the protection of an estate the proprietor of which had not attained the age of twenty-one years. The case which had been cited by the Hon'ble Member on the right (Mr. Mackenzie) was a very well known case While it was very desirable that the Government should have power to interfere, it was very often unnecessary to do so provided proper arrangements were made for the management of the estate by the family. The case which had been mentioned exemplified the working of the section. It was the case of the proprietor of a large estate, who died suddenly leaving an heir between the ages of 18 and 21. The proprietor had before his death made arrangements for the management of his estate which worked exceedingly well, and it was considered very desirable that those arrangements should continue. But soon after the death of the proprietor, it came to the notice of His Honor that endeavours had been made to upset the system of management which the deceased proprietor had established, and he only succeeded in having the then existing arrangements continued by threatening to exercise the power vested in the Government to interfere in the management of the estate if any change was made. He believed that in this way one of the most valuable estates in Bengal had been saved from ruin. The power, although it might only be necessary to exercise it by way of influencing the action of the heir, was a very valuable one, and therefore he would wish that the power be retained. The subject had already been brought to the notice of Government by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, and it was one well worthy the consideration of the Select Committee, not with the view of altering the principle of the law, but getting rid of apparent inconsistencies, and of making it perfectly certain that the Government should have power to interfere in cases in which it might be desirable to do so. The Hon'ble Member who had raised this question would no doubt be placed upon the Select Committee, and the subject could then be carefully considered

The motion was then agreed to, and the Bill referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Messrs. Reynolds, Allen, Amir Ali, Peary Mohun Mookerjee, Kristodas Pal, and the Mover with instructions to report within a fortnight.

AMENDMENT OF "THE CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL ACT."

The Hon'ble Kristodas Pal moved that the Bill to amend "The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876," be read in Council, and in doing so he said he should endeavour to give a brief analysis of the provisions of the Bill. In the first part of the Bill, provision had been made to legalize the consolidation of the loans borrowed from the Government, and with respect to this point, it might be open to question whether it was at all necessary to make legal provision of this kind, because he found, on reference to the Municipal Act of 1876, that the Government loans were contracted outside the Act. It had, however, been found desirable to give legal effect to the consolidation of the Government loans, and the provisions of sections 2 and 3 had accordingly been inserted in the Bill. The opportunity had also been taken to indemnify the Trustees in charge of the Sinking Fund for making over to the Government the Government portion of the accumulations of the fund up to date, in order to carry out the terms of the consolidation of the Government loans. The whole transaction had been completed—it was now a fait accompli, but the sections had been drawn on the lines of the Port Commissioners Amendment Act, in order that the Commissioners might at a meeting, other than an ordinary meeting, give effect to the transaction.

Power was given by another section to the Commissioners to set apart annually, in respect of future loans for the drainage and water-supply of the town, one per cent. on the total amount of the loans as a Sinking Fund for the repayment of the loans. He had explained to the Council that, under the existing law, the Commissioners were required to assign two per cent. as a contribution to the Sinking Fund, but that contribution necessitated increased taxation, and unnecessarily threw a heavy burden on the present generation of rate-payers. The Commissioners therefore represented to the Government that it would be both reasonable and equitable that the liability should be divided between the present generation and posterity, and that the contribution to the Sinking Fund should therefore be reduced from two to one per cent. The Government of Bengal had acceded to that representation of the Municipal Commissioners, and supported it in a letter to the Government of India on the subject. With His Honour the President's permission, he would read an extract from that letter. After alluding to the consolidation of the Government loans, and the relief afforded to the town by the arrangements made, the Secretary to the Government of Bengal remarked—

"The Corporation are now considering a scheme for largely increasing the supply of water, and extending it to the suburbs, and the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to amend Act V (B C.) of 1876 so as to give the Suburban Commissioners power to levy a water-rate to cover the expenses incurred on their behalf by the Calcutta Municipality The work in contemplation will be of such a nature as to last long beyond the present generation. The drainage works, too, are essentially of a permanent nature, and their benefits will extend to posterity. On the other hand, there is no ground for apprehending any decline in the prosperity of Calcutta, within any period to which reasonable anticipation can extend. Municipal taxation in Calcutta is very high, and the Lieutenant-Governor believes that any increase in the rates would seriously interfere with the progress of the town. Only once during the ten years, from 1870 to 1879, did the aggregate rate fall below 16 per cent., and in four of these years it was 18 or 18½ per cent. It is a question whether, even now, the population of the town is not less than it would be if the rate of Municipal taxation were lighter In the suburbs taxation is also high, and it is represented that, if the rate to be levied is to include provision for a two per cent Sinking Fund contribution, the scheme will probably have to be abandoned. Under these circumstances, the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to make provision in the amending Act for a Sinking Fund contribution of one per cent. only on all public loans raised for water-supply, on the understanding that the Municipal Commissioners of Calcutta determine to lay a new 62 inch main conduit from Pultah, and he would make a similar provision in regard to loans for drainage works. He trusts the Government of India will signify their approval of this measure."

Baboo Kristodas Pal did not know whether any reply had been received to that letter, but he hoped the recommendation of the Government of Bengal would be accepted by the Government of India. The rate-payers of Calcutta ought to be grateful to Government for relieving them from so heavy a charge on the Town Fund, which was dictated by a sense of justice to the present generation. Whilst on this subject, he might advert to the provision made in section 12 of the Bill for the extension of the water-supply to the suburbs He considered it his duty to point out that it was no part of the obligation of the Municipal Commissioners of Calcutta to supply water to the suburbs—that their sole duty was to supply water to their own rate-payers. But if the Commissioners of the suburbs desired to avail themselves of the Calcutta supply, and would pay for it, the Calcutta Commissioners would certainly assist them. At present, the law did not authorize the Commissioners of Calcutta to extend the water-supply to the suburbs, nor to levy a rate for the purpose; it was therefore proposed to give them power to extend the supply to the suburbs on the application of the Suburban Municipality and the consent of the local Government, and to impose a water-rate on the suburbs, sufficient to cover interest on the capital for the extension works, contribution to the Sinking Fund, and the cost of maintenance and supervision, and the necessary renewal of works. Accordingly, section 12 had been introduced, but he hoped it would be distinctly understood that it was not the object to throw an undue burden on the Calcutta rate-payers. If the people of the suburbs wished to drink the water of Calcutta, they must pay for it—unless they consented to pay the price, they could not justly be held entitled to the water.

He now came to some of the detailed provisions of the Bill. Section 5 legalized the designation "Town Council." It might be in the recollection of the Council that when the Municipal Act of 1876 was passed, there was no provision in that Act for the constitution of a Town Council, but Mr. Metcalfe, who officiated for some time as Chairman of the Corporation, gave the name "Town Council" to the General Committee of the Commissioners. The business of the Municipality was carried on partly by the Chairman and partly by Committees of the Commissioners—there was the General Committee, which met every week—sometimes more than once a week—there were Special Committees which sat on special subjects, and made reports, and these reports were considered by the Commissioners in meeting. The General Committee performed the functions of the body, which, in Bombay and other places, was called the Town Council, and it was desired that that designation should be legalized, but it was not intended in any way to change the constitution of the Committees or their present procedure.

Then, some practical inconvenience had resulted under the present provision of the law which required that the budget should be laid before the Town Commissioners at their quarterly meeting in October, when the Doorga Pooja holidays intervened. It was proposed to alter the time for the submission of the budget from October to November.

He now came to section 14 of the Bill which related to pensions. He did not wish to discuss this subject at length, as he stated, when he applied for leave to introduce the Bill, that he was not responsible for the introduction of this section. He believed there had been some correspondence between the Government of India and the Government of Bengal on the subject, and it might probably be arranged hereafter that the section should be omitted, but he could not give any positive information to the Council regarding it—he would leave it to His Honour the President to explain the position in which the question now stood. But he repeated that, in his opinion, it was not fair and equitable to throw any charge for these pensions on the Municipal Fund, for the officers concerned were in no sense servants of the Municipality—they were not appointed by the Corporation—they were not liable to the control of the Commissioners, nor to dismissal by them. The Municipality paid a lump sum for the maintenance of the police under an Act of the Legislature, and it was never intended or declared that the funds of the Municipality should be burdened with the pensionary allowances of persons who were all-along considered to be Government servants. From 1867, to the present time, the Municipality had only been called upon to pay a certain portion of the cost of the police, but they were now for the first time asked to make a contribution towards their pensions as well. He hoped that the Municipality would be exempted from that burden.

He would now advert to what was known as the bustee question. The sections in the Bill had been drawn on the lines of The English Artisans Dwelling Act, and in framing the sections, care had been taken that no land should be acquired arbitrarily or hastily. First of all, any land or area which might be considered to be in a state dangerous to health would be reported upon by two competent medical men in addition to the Health Officer of the Town. After receiving the report of such medical men, the Commissioners would consider what improvements should be made. They might, if they thought it necessary, report to the Government, recommending that the land be acquired under the Land Acquisition Act, and they might then reclaim the land and carry out the improvements at their own expense, or re-sell the land to private individuals under certain conditions as to building, drainage, and other sanitary requirements. Compensation should of course be paid according to the Land Acquisition Act, and the Commissioners were authorized to borrow money for this purpose

The next subject which Baboo Kristodas Pal would notice was the registration of shops for the sale of European drugs. There were some defects in the existing law as to registration, which it was now proposed to remedy by giving full power to the Health Officer. For instance, the present law did not give power to the Health Officer to seize any medicines which had become deteriorated by reason of climate or age, or to require the proprietor of any shop to employ a competent compounder. Section 21 gave power to the Municipal Commissioners to require the proprietors of drug shops to employ persons duly certified, under such rules as the Government might from time to time provide on the subject. His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor was pleased to say, at the last sitting of the Council, that he would be happy to co-operate with the Municipality by instituting a compounder's class in the Campbell Medical School, and lay down certain conditions to test the professional qualifications and capacity of men to be employed in druggists' shops.

The next provision in the Bill gave power to the Commissioners to license fuel shops near burning grounds. This subject was perhaps not thoroughly known to Hon'ble Members of the Council. They were doubtless aware that, near the burning ground, shops were kept for the sale of fuel and other articles for cremation—great abuses at one time existed in respect of these shops, and his friend, Baboo Chunder Mohun Chatterjee moved Mr. Wauchope, who was then Commissioner of Police for Calcutta, to put a stop to those abuses by licensing one or two shops for the sale of fuel. The abuses were so great that Mr. Wauchope, though not having the support of the law, considered it necessary by a stretch of executive authority to regulate the sale of fuel at these shops by licensing one or two of them. That arrangement continued when the late Justices came into existence. Sir Stuart Hogg examined the question, and he was also satisfied that, unless some hold was had on the sale of fuel at the burning ghats, great abuses would again arise, and he therefore continued the arrangements made by Mr. Wauchope, and those arrangements have since been in force. But lately, owing to a new interpretation of the law by a Bench of Magistrates in Calcutta, rival shops had sprung up, and some police cases had resulted in consequence. It was therefore proposed to give power to the Commissioners to license fuel shops with a view to put down disputes and litigation, and to check abuses. Section 24 of the Bill provided for that purpose.

These were the main provisions of the Bill; the other sections covered minor amendments, which did not call for particular remarks. But there was one point deserving of notice, which was at present outside the Bill. He meant whether the Municipal year should be brought into harmony with the Financial year of the Government. Hon'ble Members had seen amongst the papers circulated with the Bill, a letter from Mr. Secretary Macaulay in which reference was made to this subject. The Municipal year in Calcutta corresponded with the calendar year, but the Secretary of State urged that the Municipal year in all the Presidency towns should be made to correspond with the Official year. This question was referred to the Commissioners sometime ago, and Baboo Kristodas Pal found that it was reserved for consideration till the time when the Municipal Act might need amendment. The question had therefore been now again urged for consideration. He, for his own part, thought it would entail great practical inconvenience on the Municipality if the Municipal year were made to correspond with the Official year. All the Municipal licenses corresponded with the calendar year, and if the Financial year were made the Municipal year, then the year of such licenses must be altered, the books of the Municipality must also be altered, and at least for one year the tax-payees, who had to take out these licenses, would have to pay license fees for a year and a quarter, and great practical inconvenience would thus arise. The object of the Government was, he believed, to have the Municipal accounts made up according to the Financial year, and he understood that there was an executive order in existence under which the Municipal accounts were furnished to Government according to the Financal year, so that the primary object of the Government, he ventured to think, had already been attained by the executive arrangements already in force. But if the Government should insist on the change of the Municipal year, it would be for the Select Committee to consider how far the wishes of Government might be met.

The Hon'ble Ameer Ali said he thought advantage should be taken of the present opportunity to do away with the anomalous position of the Municipal Commissioners of Calcutta, who were also Justices of the Peace, in trying cases in which the Municipality was a party. He believed doubts had suggested themselves in several quarters as to the legality of their proceedings, and he believed that such doubts existed in Bombay also. He had mentioned the matter to His Hon'ble friend on his left (BABOO KRISTODAS PAL), and he thought it right that attention should be drawn to it in Council, that measures might be taken to solve the difficulty referred to. The Bombay Government was about to introduce a Bill to empower Presidency Magistrates, who were also Municipal Commissioners, to try cases in which the Municipality was a party; and as there was no special provision in the Calcutta Municipal Act giving such authority to them, he would urge upon the Hon'ble Member to introduce a provision in the Bill by which the question might be settled in a satisfactory manner one way or the other.

THE HON'BLE PEARY MOHUN MOOKERJEE said there was one portion of the Bill regarding which too much care could not be taken in settling its provisions—he meant the sections of the Bill relating to the sale of drugs. It was certainly not intended that a grocer's or bunniah's shop should be required to be registered, or that such shops should employ certificated compounders to superintend the sale of such innocuous substances as ginger, cinnamon, or aniseed, which, to use the words of the Bill, were "drugs enumerated in the British Pharmacopœia." It would operate as a great hardship if the wording of the section was not altered so as to exclude the sort of shops to which he had referred. He thought that abkarry shops, or shops for the sale exciseable articles, should also be expressly excluded, because the section as it stood would include these shops also.

The HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE said, perhaps it was desirable that he should say a word with reference to the sections bearing on the Government municipal loans. It was doubtful whether they were really required in the shape in which they appeared in the Bill. It would be remembered that the Calcutta Municipality had made repeated efforts to get some reduction of the burden imposed on the present generation of tax-payers on account of the drainage and water-supply of the town, and the Government of Bengal had consistently supported the Municipality in those endeavours. The consolidation of the Government loans wat one of the measures of relief which theGovernment of India, on representations made, had been good enough to grant. The Government had lent the Municipality 52 lakhs of rupees on account of water-supply at the low rate of interest of 4 per cent., and various other sums for drainage, markets, Municipal offices, and the like, at 4½ per cent., subject to certain stipulations regarding sinking funds and repayments. The Municipal Act took, however, no direct cognizance of such loans, which were simply matters of contract between the Government and the Municipality. The Government made its own terms with the Municipality, and if it became necessary to enforce compliance with those terms, the Government knew where to find its remedy. When, therefore, in 1878 the Municipality applied for some modification of the terms of repayment, the Government of Bengal made certain proposals to the Government of India, and the Government of India took these into consideration and passed orders regarding them. No special need for legislative sanction was apparent. What the Government of India proposed was that the Municipality should hand over to the Government the Sinking Fund which had been held as against the Government loans, and that the whole of the balances of the loans should then be consolidated into one loan at 4½ per cent., to be repaid in sixty equal half-yearly instalments. This proposal was believed to be advantageous to the Municipality, and was accepted. It was then, however, found that the Trustees of the Municipality held not only the Sinking Fund accruing against the Municipal Debentures, but also the Sinking Fund accruing against the Government 4½ per cent. loans in one and the same account. A separation of accounts became necessary, and was easily effected. But a doubt arose whether, looking to the fact that section 537 of the Act bound the Trustees to hold all moneys in their possession when the Act was passed—when held for the purpose of paying off any sum borrowed by them—subject to the trusts declared in that section, some legislation was not required to show that the section was not intended to apply to, or affect in any way, the arrangements regarding the Government loans. This doubt might be fanciful perhaps, but it was the only matter in connection with the consolidation of the Government loans which seemed to him to call for legislation at all. There was again a point in connection with the Public Debenture loans which might or might not require legislation. In the Municipal Act provision was made that the sum of 2 per cent. on the total sum borrowed by the Commissioners, for purposes of any enactment thereby repealed, and exclusive of the Government loans, was to be held as a Sinking Fund. The Government of India suggested that the Municipality should, in respect of future loans, instead of setting aside a sum of 2 per cent. on the gross amount of the loan, set apart 2 per cent. only on its net amount as it might stand at the beginning of each year—that is to say, after deducting the amount of Sinking Fund held against the loan. That was a matter for the Municipality to consider, and so far they had not come up officially for any amendment of the law to enable them to take advantage of the proposal; but he observed that in the Bill effect was apparently sought to be given to it. The second clause of section 4 of the Bill provided that in respect of loans contracted after the passing of the Act, a sum of not less than 1 per cent. on the total sum borrowed by the Commissioners, after deducting the total amount previously set apart as a Sinking Fund in respect of such loans, should be set aside yearly towards the discharge of the loans. This proposed a double concession to the present generation of tax-payers. The Hon'ble Mover of the Bill had only referred to one—the reduction of the rate of payment to the Sinking Fund; but it would be seen there was a further modification, in that this percentage was to be calculated only on net, and not on gross, indebtedness. He might further remark that if the Sinking Fund was to be calculated on the net debt, there was perhaps no necessity for a Sinking Fund at all. It would be sufficient to provide that the sum of 1 or 2 per cent., as the case might be, should be appropriated annually to buying up and cancelling Municipal debentures. After all, however, it was doubtful whether legislation was required to meet the case of these future loans, seeing that under section 334 of the Act the terms of loan and repayment had to be settled in each case by Government and the Commissioners. Section 337 was only designed to protect the status quo at the time of passing the Act in 1876.

MR. MACKENZIE thought it desirable to make this explanation, because the object of the sections to which he had referred might not be understood. He would not follow the hon'ble member through the other remarks which he had made, except to say shortly, in respect to the extension of the water-supply to the suburbs, that it would be wise policy to recognize something like solidarity between the town and suburbs. According to the provision as it now stood in the Bill, the Calcutta Municipality might carry out in the suburbs any scheme of water-supply they pleased, at any cost they pleased, and charge the rate-payers of the suburbs any amount they pleased: the rate of interest to be charged not being even mentioned in the Bill. He did not think that this was an arrangement that either the inhabitants of the suburbs or the Government could contemplate with satisfaction.

HIS HONOUR the PRESIDENT said that before putting the motion he wished to make one or two remarks on the subjects which had just been alluded to; and first, in answer to what had fallen from the Hon'ble Mover, HIS HONOUR thought that the section relating to the supply of water to the suburbs required very careful consideration by the Select Committee. It seemed to him that this section, as worded, would impose upon the suburbs a liability very much in excess of what he believed was right. He was sorry to see a tendency on the part of the Municipal Commissioners of Calcutta to treat the Suburban Municipality with a sort of jealousy. There seemed to be some objection on the part of the Calcutta Municipality to recognize that the suburbs were, as a matter of fact, part of Calcutta, and an inclination to shut them out from the advantages which the people of Calcutta enjoyed chiefly from the assistance of Government. The Calcutta water-works, as he and Hon'ble Members well know, had been carried out by the Calcutta Municipality, but they could never have carried them out unless they had received very marked assistance from the Government. They ought to be willing to let the suburbs share in the advantages thus derived, if they could do so without any extra expenditure to themselves. The water-works were carried out by a loan of half a million from the Government, and the Municipality had every facility in the way of the services of engineering officers from the Government, and they were allowed to construct the work a distance of 14 miles along a Government road. This being so, HIS HONOUR thought they should recognize the fact that the health of Calcutta and its prosperity were to a great extent wrapped up in the health and prosperity of the suburbs. There were many people who resided all day in Calcutta, but who lived in the suburbs, and who came here every day to do their work. Calcutta was dependent to a great extent on the suburbs for labour and other conditions which made life and trade in Calcutta possible. He thought that instead of grudging the suburbs aid in the matter of water-supply, they should allow them ungrudgingly such benefit as they could enjoy from the existing head works and mains of the Calcutta service without detriment to Calcutta. It was, of course, quite fair that if the water-service was extended to the suburbs, the residents of the suburbs should pay such a rate as would entirely relieve Calcutta of any extra cost bona fide incurred for that purpose, but they should not be called upon to pay any charges which Calcutta would have to incur if the water-supply was not so extended. It seemed to him that the section, as now drawn, left it open to the Calcutta Municipality to assess the people of the suburbs to a degree which would involve a prohibitory charge by making them pay something in excess of what was the fair cost of laying down the water in the suburbs. He quite agreed that all extra expense involved in extending the works to the suburbs would be a fair charge upon the suburbs, but he strongly protested against throwing upon them the cost of works which were not rendered necessary exclusively by that extension, and he hoped that the Select Committee would give their careful considera-ation and see that some proper control was provided, so that the suburbs might not be shut out altogether by a prohibitory rate or that the rate imposed upon them was not made unreasonably heavy.

He would now come to the question of pension. Hon'ble Members had just been told that the Municipal Commissioners objected to pay anything towards pensions of Police officers, because they neither appointed nor controlled the Police: he must remind them that the payment of the Police was a duty which was thrown upon them by law just as much as drainage, water, and other rates; they had to prepare a budget which was to receive the sanction of Government, and after the budget had been received, the local Government determined, year by year, how much it would give towards the maintenance of the Police as a contribution to Municipal Funds. The Municipality had to find the pay of the Police by law, less only such amount as Government saw fit to contribute, year by year: and pension was really only a form of deferred pay. Although we all had great respect for the Municipal Commissioners, and the way in which they managed their work, he did not think that the detailed control of the Police was a matter which could in any way be advantageously vested in the Corporation. As a matter of fact, particularly as regards pension, the Government had always behaved with great liberality to the Municipality. About two years ago, His Honour received a proposal from the Government of India calling upon the Municipality to pay a contribution towards the pension of the Commissioner of Police. He pointed out that the Municipality paid a very heavy sum for the maintenance of the Police, that the Municipal rates were very high, and that the Municipality should, therefore, in his opinion, not be called upon to make any contribution for such purpose. The Government of India replied that although they claimed the principle to be correct, they were willing, in consideration of what the Municipality was doing, to make the pension a part of the contribution from the Government, and that claim had been withdrawn. Since then, about the beginning of this year, he received a letter from the Government of India, directing him to take measures for the amendment of the Municipal Act in order to make the Municipality bear a share of the pensions and gratuities granted to servants who were partly paid by the Government and partly by the Municipality. He must say that that principle seemed to him to be perfectly fair and justifiable, but as he had before said he was willing to recognize the fact that the Municipality had very heavy charges to meet, that taxation was very high, and though the charge for pensions was not a heavy item, he desired to save them as much as he could from further expenditure for Police; he accordingly wrote to the Government of India as follows:—

"The proposal to require the Calcutta Municipality to contribute for pensions has been more than once discussed The circumstances have materially altered since Mr. Dampier's letter No. 530, dated 31st January 1868, was written, and Sir Ashley Eden is of opinion that the validity of the claim of Government to these contributions is indisputable; but he thinks that the present time is not opportune for enforcing this claim. As has already been stated in my letter No. 143, dated 23rd ultimo, to the Financial Department, on the subject of the Sinking Fund contribution on future public loans for water-supply and drainage, taxation in Calcutta is extremely high, and any considerable increase in the burdens thrown on the rate-payers must affect the prosperity of the town. The Commissioners are about to incur very heavy expenditure in increasing the supply of filtered water—a measure absolutely indispensable to sanitary progress. Government have unceasingly urged upon them the necessity of pushing forward vigorously the work of filling up filthy tanks and improving the condition of bustees in the town. The extension of the water-supply will remove one obstacle to the prosecution of the first measure; while the provision about to be made in the amending Act, enabling the Commissioners to acquire bustee land for the purpose of reclaiming and building on it, or letting it for building sites, will give the Municipality ample powers to deal with the second question. But while the way will now be open to the execution of those essential sanitary reforms, it is most important that no avoidable financial difficulties should be allowed to arise. The Lieutenant-Governor believes that it would have a very good effect, and would greatly strengthen the hands of Government, in insisting on the systematic prosecution of these reforms, if the Government of India were to postpone for the present the enforcement of their claim to pensionary contributions, and to declare, as was done in the case of the Chairman's contribution for leave and pension allowances, that the exemption, so long as it is permitted, must be held to be a substantial contribution by Government to the Municipal revenue of the town."

He had this morning received a reply from the Government of India to that letter, in which they said:

"I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 175, dated the 7th instant, and in reply to say that, under the circumstances represented, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to sanction the recommendation of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, that the Government should, for the present, forego the enforcement of its claim for pensionary contributions from the Calcutta and Mofussil Municipalities.

"The principle that such contributions are claimable should, however, be definitely asserted in the Municipal Acts now under amendment in Bengal; and it would, in the opinion of the Governor-General in Council, facilitate the settlement of the question, and prevent risk of future misapprehension, if the obligation were at once imposed in the legislation at present under consideration of the Government of Bengal, power being reserved to the local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to exempt the Calcutta or other Municipality at any particular time from the payment of contribution, in the event of sufficient reasons being shown for such temporary exemption."

That was how the matter now stood. The Government of India had consented to forego its demand for contribution to pension, but they wished to have the principle asserted in the Act. His Honour himself must say that he saw no great object in inserting the principle in the Act if it was the intention to forego payment, and he would take an opportunity of making a further representation, and point out that the liability having been declared by the Government, it would be better to leave the whole question to be settled hereafter, the Act being amended when necessary for this purpose, rather than to disfigure the Act in the way in which it was proposed by putting in a provision which was not to be enforced. Whether the Government of India would consent to that proposal, he could not say; but in the mean time the Select Committee should consider the orders of the Government of India, and endeavour to frame a section which would meet the views of the Government of India.

He did not think that there was anything further in the Bill which called for remark in this stage, but he had no doubt that its provisions would receive the careful consideration of the Committee, and that they would also consider the suggestion which had been made by the Hon'ble Member on the left (Mr. Amir Ali.)

The Hon'ble Kristodas Pal explained that it was not intended that the Municipality should have the arbitrary power of imposing a water-rate on the suburbs. Specifications and estimates of works necessary for the extension of water to the suburbs would be submitted to the Government, and as no such extension could be carried out without the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, the determination of the rate would ultimately rest with His Honour. It was provided in the Bill that the Municipality should have power to levy such a rate as would cover all costs of construction, establishment, and maintenance; but if the rate were fixed by law, it might prove insufficient and embarrassing. The determination of the rate ought therefore to be left to the Commissioners subject to the sanction of the local Government.

The motion was then agreed to, and the Bill referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble the Advocate-General and the Hon'ble Messrs. Cockerell, Mackenzie, Allen, Ameer Ali, and the Mover, with instructions to report in a fortnight.

AMENDMENT OF "THE CESS ACT, 1880."

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved that the report of the Select Committee, on the Bill to amend "The Cess Act, 1880," be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill, and that the clauses of the Bill be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved that the following note be substituted for the note which stood below Part I of Schedule A:

"NOTE.—In the body of this statement should be entered only nijjote lands and such uncultivated lands in the use and occupation of the maker of the return as are capable of assessment on their annual value."

This amendment, he said, was the result of the opinion expressed by the Hon'ble Member opposite when the Bill was read in Council, and also in Select Committee. A communication had since been received by the Lieutenant-Governor from the British Indian Association on the subject. It turned on the point whether uncultivated nijjote lands were to be entered in the return as liable to assessment or not. There had been a good deal of discussion on the matter informally, and the Government had ultimately accepted the amendment which MR. DAMPIER now moved, and which he hoped would meet with the approval of the Council.

THE HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAL said he was willing to accept the amendment if it was worked out in the spirit in which it was moved. He hoped that the Board's instructions to Collectors would be sufficiently explicit so as not to give rise to complications in future. As far as he understood the object of the Cess law, it was that the cess should be calculated on the rental or profit derived in some shape or other, and the definition of "annual value" in the Act of 1880, although somewhat vaguely worded, implied that only land capable of valuation in some form or other, that was to say, land yielding profit or some advantage to the owner, was liable to assessment.

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER observed, in reply, that it was impossible that any pledge should be given in this Council on behalf of an institution so proverbially irresponsible and intangible as a Board, but he would express a confident hope that the Board of Revenue would endeavour to do full justice to the intention which actuated the introduction of this amendment.

The HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE remarked that it was not the principle of the original Road Cess Act that the assessment should fall only on actual rental or profits; possible profits had also to be considered. Under section 4 of the Act, all "immovable property" was liable to pay road cess; and the term "immovable property" was defined in section 3 to include land. But "land" meant "land, whether cultivated, uncultivated, or covered with water." Land falling under the last part of that definition might very well be land yielding no actual profit. It was not, however, apparently the intention of the Act that land which was absolutely worthless should pay cess, for that on which the assessment was calculated, namely, the "annual value of the land," was defined to be the "total rent paid or, if no rent was actually paid, the rent which would be reasonably expected to be payable during the year by all the cultivating ryots thereof, or by other persons in actual use and occupation thereof." These last words led to the inference that waste lands which were absolutely unculturable, or capable of yielding no return of any kind, were not to be assessed, but where land might be made capable of yielding a rent under any circumstances it must pay road cess, whether the owner chose to utilize it or not. He believed, however, that in practice only lands returning actual profits were included in the returns.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE AMEER ALI moved that the proviso in clause 3, section 44 of Bengal Act IX of 1880, commencing with the words "subject however" and concluding with the words "the holders of such share" be omitted. He said that the great hardship which was entailed upon the co-sharers of a mehal by the insertion of this proviso in section 44 was the reason which induced him to bring forward the motion. He had received several communications on the subject from zemindars in Behar, one of which he forwarded to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill. The Hon'ble Member was good enough to consider the suggestion, which however he thought to be impracticable. MR. AMEER ALI himself was of the same opinion. The suggestion was to the effect that the cesses should be required to be paid with the Government jumma; but it appeared to him that it would be hardly possible to do so, unless the cesses were consolidated with the Government revenue. The only remedy seemed to him to be the omission of the proviso mentioned in the amendment. It occurred only in clause 3, and presumably applied only to such co-sharers as were mentioned in that clause. There appeared to him therefore to be no difficulty in omitting it. MR. AMEER ALI did not see the justice of making co-sharers, who were in every respect separate, who paid their jummas separately, who had separate accounts with the Collector for Government revenue, liable for the laches of a co-sharer, who was a co-sharer only in name and by a fiction of the law. He would read, with the Hon'ble President's permission, a passage from the communication already referred to by him, to show the great hardship which was caused by the joint-liability clause in section 44 of the Cess Act. It was as follows:—

"In the province of Behar, the mehals, generally speaking, consist of ten or twenty mouzahs, each owned by numerous and different co-sharers, so much so that the malik of one mouzah is not acquainted with the maliks of the other mouzahs, nor is he aware of the different shares in the remaining mouzahs held by the respective maliks. As there is only one and same toujih number for the mehal, a joint assessment is made in respect of the same. And when the Road and Public Works Cesses run into arrears, the shareholders of the mehal cannot possibly know which particular sharer is liable for such arrears, and whether the debt in reality is due or not and if due, how much it amounts to. The payment consequently is impossible. The co-sharers and the shareholding porprietors of larger shares do not allow Road and Public Works Cesses to fall into arrears. The holders of small shares generally allow the cesses to remain unpaid, so that in the event of the same being paid by the large shareholders, it is difficult for them to reimburse themselves. Under these circumstances many mehals would be put up to sale, and innocent parties deprived of their estate along with the defaulters."

The provision in the Revenue law by which the entire body of co-sharers were made liable for default committed by one of them in the payment of the Government cess, was a traditional rule handed down from former Governments, who not unfrequently visited the sins of the fathers on the heads of the sons. It appeared to MR. AMEER ALI, however, that the circumstances connected with the separate payment of revenue by co-sharers did not apply to the separate payment of cesses. He could understand the reason for the Revenue authorities placing the payment of Government revenue on a different basis from the payment of cesses, which was a due of quite a different nature—cesses, as a matter of fact, were not payable in such large amounts as the Government revenue. It was possible that when default was committed in the payment of revenue, and the specific share in default was set up for sale, the highest offer might not be equal to the amount of revenue due; but it could hardly ever happen that when a specific share of an estate was set up for sale for arrears of cess due, the highest offer would not suffice to meet the amount due. He therefore thought that there was no sufficient reason for the insertion of the proviso in clause 3, section 44 of the Cess Act, and he knew that it caused a great deal of hardship on persons who were co-sharers in a mehal, and therefore the only means of remedying that hardship was to strike out the proviso in clause 3 altogether. He did not see that the omission of the proviso could do any harm in respect of the recovery of the cesses; the section remained intact and the specific share remained primarily liable for recovery of the arrears. The whole mehal would remain liable for the Government revenue as before, but the other co-sharers would not suffer for the laches of one co-sharer, generally a small shareholder, in the payment of cesses. In view of the hardship and vexation occasioned by the law as it stood at present, he hoped the Council would agree to the amendment proposed by him, or the Bill might be referred back to the Select Committee, with instructions to devise a clause calculated to obviate the evils to which he had referred.

THE HON'BLE PEARY MOHUN MOOKERJEE said he entirely agreed in this amendment. If the objectionable passage contained in clause 3 of section 44 of the Cess Act were expunged, he thought the security for recovering arrears of cess would not be in the least jeopardized: arrears of cess were ordinarily so small in amount, that he thought there was no fear of the Government incurring any loss by reason of not being able to recover those arrears if the provision to which objection had been raised was struck out. He thought that the considerations affecting cess and revenue were so different that there could be no comparison whatever as to the means to be provided for the recovery of arrears of cess in the one case and of revenue in the other. He perfectly agreed with the Hon'ble Member in thinking that great hardship was experienced by shareholders from the operation of the proviso which he now sought to remove from the Act: they were not only liable to be sold out, if the revenue of a co-sharer had not been paid, but they ran a similar risk if a small arrear of cess were due on account of a small fractional share of an estate in which they had no interest whatever.

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said the hardships arising from joint liability for the payment of cesses were, he presumed, the same in character and very much less in degree than those which arose out of joint liability for the payment of Government revenue. The Hon'ble Gentleman, the Mover of this amendment, in speaking of the Government enforcing that joint liability for revenue, likened it to the visiting of the sins of the father upon the children. It was not for MR. DAMPIER to give the Hon'ble Gentleman a lecture on the law of contract, but he would ask him to remember that an estate when created was created as a whole—the engagement with the Government was for the estate as a whole. One condition above all others was attached, that, without the consent of the Government to the division of an estate, and the assessment of the revenue in proportion to the shares into which it was divided, there should be no disruption of the joint liability for the payment of revenue. The process which the law afforded to proprietors for getting rid of this joint liability was well known as the Butwarrah law, and those joint proprietors who wished to take advantage of that law, could do so without asking for any favour from the executive Government.

If they did not choose to do this, certainly the sons had so far to suffer for the sins of their fathers, that they inherited their estates with precisely the liabilities which their fathers had attached to them, or subject to which the fathers had voluntarily acquired them. It was not unusal for sons to suffer for the sins of fathers to this extent in matters of property.

MR. DAMPIER would next notice the last remark which the Hon'ble Mover of the amendment had made. He said that where the Government revenue was in arrear, it might perhaps happen that the sale of the share in default would not yield sufficient to cover the arrear, but that the amount of cesses payable was so small, in proportion to the market value of an estate, that that was not a possible contingency where arrears of cess and not revenue were due, and that therefore it was practically unnecessary to keep alive the ultimate joint responsibility of all the co-sharers in an estate for arrears of cess due on a share of the estate, to be enforced only in case the arrear was not realized by sale of the share only. In answer to the communications to which the Hon'ble Gentleman referred, MR. DAMPIER had pointed out that the proposal was founded upon the misconception that the liability for payment of cess followed the land. That was not the case—it followed the person. After putting in force the certificate procedure, the share of the estate belonging to the defaulter might be sold just as his interest in any other land, unconnected with the cess in arrear, might be sold for the debt—but not otherwise.

These remarks arose directly out of what had fallen from the Hon'ble Member in moving this amendment, but the proposed amendment raised so important a question, that MR. DAMPIER had considered it very thoroughly before coming into the Council-room. The argument which had been advanced was a specious one in no bad sense, but in the sense that the advantages of the proposed measure were patent and lay on the surface, whereas the objections were latent—hidden under a mass of rubbish and details, from which to exhume them required the pickax of an expert. This particular question of relieving the joint sharers in an estate from liability on account of the default of a co-sharer was a matter of such importance, the benefit which this proposal would confer on the individual tax-payer was so great, it was in a direction in which MR. DAMPIER was so often pressed to go, and the measure was one of which he would be so glad to advise the adoption if it were possible, that he thought it due to the Council to explain as fully as possible why it was impossible in the general interests of the public to accept this amendment or any other in the same direction.

But in order to make the reasons intelligible, he was obliged once more to ask the Council to allow him to give them one of those homilies on revenue details for which he was so often obliged to ask their indulgence.

"The difficulty of accepting the amendment lies in the fact that the sections of Act XI of 1859, which treat of the opening of separate accounts for shares of the sudder jumma, do not require that the share of the sudder jumma, in respect of which the separate account is opened, shall bear the same proportion to the entire sudder jumma of the estate as the assets or value of the fractional share, or of the land in respect of which the separate account is opened, bear to the entire assets or value of the estate.

If it were otherwise, if the law insisted. as the Butwarah law does, on a proper proportion being kept up between assets and sudder jumma, it might be possible for the Government to entertain the Hon'ble Member's proposed amendment, for it might, with reasonable safety, be assumed, that when a share in an estate, for which a separate account has been opened by the Collector, is brought to sale for arrears of revenue, the sale will yield a surplus over the arrear of land revenue on which the Collector might lay hands in payment of any arrear of cess due from the same proprietor. But as the law stands, there is nothing to prevent a joint proprietor in an estate from having a separate account opened in respect of 12 annas of the entire sudder jumma, that is, accepting for himself the liability to pay 12 annas of the entire sudder jumma, while declaring himself to be the proprietor of a very small fraction only of the estate, of which fraction the assets are, say, not more than one-eight of the entire assets of the estate, and insufficient even to pay the share of the sudder jumma for which he causes a separate account to be opened in his name.

Under these circumstances, the Hon'ble Member's amendment, if adopted, would leave open the door for collusion to defraud the Government and the District Committees of the cesses due. Taking for illustration the case of an estate in which the recorded joint proprietors are A and B—the former a man of substance—the latter a man of straw, and A's creature.

Immediately a separate account for a share of sudder jumma is opened, A and B will, under clauses 2 and 3, section 44 of the Cess Act, become liable for the cess assessed in respect of the entire estate "in proportion to the amount of Government revenue, for the payment of which their respective shares remain liable." Let us suppose that B has caused a separate account to be opened in his name, accepting a liability for 12 annas of the entire sudder jumma Then, immediately, on the account being opened, A will be liable, say, for Rs. 250 only, and B for the remaining Rs. 750 out of a thousand, which is the entire amount of cess on the estate. B having defaulted for land revenue, the share, in respect of which the separate account is open in his name, is put up to sale; as it is encumbered with a higher amount of land revenue than it can pay, no outsider will buy it, and of course A, the substantial joint proprietor in the estate will buy the share in, either in his own name, or benamee in that of some other man of straw—say C, so as to save the entire estate from being put up to sale for the arrear, but he will only bid the exact amount of arrears due—there will be no surplus profits of the sale to be paid to B, from which the Collector could deduct the Rs. 750 of cess due from B.

So the Collector must proceed to realize the cess from B by the certificate procedure. But B is a man of straw, and long before the certificate is issued, he has made over his moveable property to his sisters and his cousins and his aunts. He has no other immoveable property, and the nazir makes his return—"No assets can be discovered." At this stage, as the section which the Hon'ble Mover of the amendment wishes to alter now stands, the Collector would enforce the joint liability of A, and proceed to recover the Rs 750 of cess from him. But if the section is mutilated as the Hon'ble Member proposes, "the general responsibility of the holders of the entire estate," i.e of A, will have absolutely ceased from the date on which the separate account of land revenue was opened, and the amount of cesses due will be irretrievably lost to the Public Exchequer and the District Committees, and this game might be played over and over again with perfect safety to A.

The case of collusion between A and B has been here taken as the best for the purposes of illustration, but MR. DAMPIER could assure the Council that a similar danger would exist in cases in which there is no collusion, but in which (B being a man with no other property) the share of the estate, which, bonâ fide, belongs to him, has by private arrangement among the proprietors of the estate, been burdened with an undue share of the land revenue demand."

The HON'BLE AMEER ALI said, in reply, that he thought the difficulty suggested by the Hon'ble Member (MR. DAMPIER) might easily be obviated by adding some clause to cover such special and hypothetical cases. Such cases were extremely unlikely to occur in actual practice, and with the safeguards which the law provided against collusion and fraud, it was impossible to suppose they could occur with impunity. At all events, the great boon which would be conferred on the large mass of proprietors by the omission of the clause in question would compensate for any mischief which in some rare instances, according to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, was likely to arise if MR AMEER ALI'S suggestion was adopted. That suggestion was offered from the practical level of those who had to suffer from the working of the Act, and he hoped that it would meet with the approval of Hon'ble Members. Some portion of the hardship at present entailed upon proprietors would be removed by requiring the Collector to give some distinct notice to the entire body of shareholders in a mehal, so as to enable them to know who the defaulting co-sharers were and what the amount of the cess in arrears was. He might mention one instance in which, if such a course had been adopted, much hardship would have been avoided. There was one mehal in the Patna district, which had been put up for sale for default committed by certain co-sharers in the payment of the cess. This mehal consisted of 12 mouzahs, and was in possession of 20 maliks, and though the property was put up for sale, the majority of the co-sharers were not aware up to this time who the defaulting co-sharers were.

HIS HONOUR the President said he thought the question which had been raised was a very important one, but it hardly came in properly in connection with the Bill now before the Council. The object of this Bill was not to reconsider and to revise all questions relating to the assessment and recovery of cess, but to correct certain obvious errors in the Act which had been discovered in the course of its administration. The question which had been raised was one which had possibly not been considered before, it involved important principles, and could only be decided after careful enquiry from local officers. Acts, such as the Cess Act, were very frequently amended, and another opportunity would no doubt occur for proposing the change suggested. In the mean time the point could be noted and enquiries could be made from the revenue officers in Behar on the subject. He would therefore suggest the propriety of the Hon'ble Member withdrawing his amendment on the present occasion, leaving it for consideration or the occasion of some subsequent amendment of the Act.

The amendment was then by leave withdrawn

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER postponed the motion which stood in the list of Business that the Bill be passed.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday the 19th March.

Proceedings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations.

Saturday, the 19th March 1881.

PRESENT:

HIS HONOUR THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL, Presiding,
The HON'BLE H. L. DAMPIER,
The HON'BLE H. J. REYNOLDS,
The HON'BLE H. A. COCKERELL,
The HON'BLE A. MACKENZIE,
The HON'BLE T. T. ALLEN,
The HON'BLE PEARY MOHUN MOOKERJEE,
The HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAL, C.I.E., RAI BAHADOOR, and
The HON'BLE AMEER ALI.

BURIAL BOARD (CALCUTTA AND ITS SUBURBS).

THE HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE moved that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the appointment of a Burial Board in Calcutta and its Suburbs be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill. He said that the Select Committee had not found it necessary to make any material amendments in the Bill. They had inserted a clause providing for the resignation of Members of the Board by enabling the Lieutenant-Governor from time to time to relieve any Member of the Board nominated by him of his functions as a Member of such Board. The other amendments which the Committee had made in the Bill were merely of a verbal nature.

The motion was put and agreed to

The HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE asked leave to postpone the remaining two motions which stood in his name. Finding that no criticisms—in fact no notice—of the Bill had appeared in the public press, he had sent copies to all the leading dissenting clergy in town, and had received from a few of them replies. Briefly, he might say, as far as the replies went, they all approved of the principle of the Bill, and the chief point on which suggestions had been made was that of the constitution of the Board Some of those consulted thought that the Bill ought to provide for a larger proportion of the clerical element on the Board, while one gentleman thought that no clergymen at all ought to be appointed. As these suggestions did not go to the principle of the Bill, the Council would probably find it unnecessary to make any change in its provisions; but he should like to wait another week for further replies to the circular which had been issued.

The motions were by leave postponed.

AMENDMENT OF "THE EXCISE ACT."

THE HON'BLE MR. REYNOLDS moved that the Bill to amend "The Bengal Excise Act, 1878," be read in Council. He said that at the last meeting he explained the grounds upon which legislation was necessary; the Bill had since been printed and circulated, and he need only briefly refer to its provisions. The third section of the Bill contained a definition of "foreign exciseable article," which was drawn up in accordance with a representation which had been made by the Chief Commissioner of Assam. MR REYNOLDS mentioned at the last meeting that these foreign exciseable articles were of two kinds—first, spirituous liquors, which were imported into Assam from places in British India in which no excise law was in force; and, secondly, wild ganja, which grew on the hills beyond British India, and was surreptitiously brought into Assam across the frontier. The 4th section of the Bill provided for the regulation of the traffic in such articles in accordance with the wish of the Chief Commissioner. Power was given to the Board of Revenue absolutely to prohibit the possession of such foreign exciseable articles in any quantity whatsoever in the districts or tracts specified in the notification, or to limit their possession to certain specified quantities. The 5th section provided for the difficulty which had been raised by the Board, by omitting the words "for sale" from section 58 of the Act.

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said he observed in the Bill a provision to substitute, for the definition of "spirituous liquor" under the Act, the following words:—

"Spirituous liquor" includes any spirituous liquor imported into India by sea or manufactured in India by any process of "distillation." The only difference between this definition and that for which it was substituted, lay in the introduction of the words "by sea," which had a restricting and not an extending effect, excluding from the definition all liquors imported otherwise than by sea. Perhaps the Hon'ble Mover of the Bill would explain the object of this change in the definition, which was not apparent to MR. DAMPIER.

The HON'BLE MR. REYNOLDS remarked that he did not remember at that time the exact reason why the words "by sea" were introduced in the amendment, but the point might be reserved for consideration in Select Committee.

HIS HONOR the PRESIDENT said he thought the idea probably was to exclude spirituous liquors imported into British India from Native States. Liquors so manufactured and imported would be included in the definition of "foreign exciseable article" contained in the previous paragraph of the section, foreign exciseable article being there defined to mean any article manufactured or produced at any place beyond the limits of British India.

The HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE said he believed that the reason for the introduction of the words "by sea" lay in the construction of the later penalty sections. The point could best be considered in Committee

The motion was put and agreed to, and the Bill referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble MESSRS. MACKENZIE, ALLEN, PEARY MOHUN MOOKERJEE, and the MOVER.

AMENDMENT OF "THE CESS ACT, 1880."

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved that the Bill to amend "The Cess Act, 1880," be further considered in order to the settlement of its clauses.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said that since the last meeting of the Council two points had been brought to his notice. The first was in connection with the 42nd section of the Act. That section provided that cess might be paid at the time when rent was payable. He should not himself have suggested the introduction of the explanatory words contained in his first amendment, but that the necessity for such explanation had been suggested to him from two independent quarters. The revenue was due according to the instalments mentioned in the engagement, but, although the revenue was then due, payment of it was not required until a certain last date of payment which was fixed under the provisions of Act XI of 1859: all instalments which had become due before that last day of payment were bound to be paid by that last day, and not before, on penalty of sale of the estate. It was suggested that section 42 of the Cess Act was ambiguous, and that a question might rise whether payment of cess was bound to be made according to the periods fixed in the engagement for the payment of revenue, or by the latest day fixed by the Board of Revenue under Act XI of 1859. The object of the amendment was to declare that the latest day for the payment of cess was the date fixed "under the provisions of section 3 of Act XI of 1859, or of any similar Act at the time being in force for the payment of arrears." His motion therefore was to substitute these words for the words "for the payment of the instalments" in clause (1) of section 42.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER said that his second amendment was suggested from the discussion which took place on his hon'ble friend MR. AMEER ALI'S amendment in section 44 of the Cess Act as to the separation of liability for payment of cess. As the Act stood, when a separate account was open for the payment of revenue, there was a corresponding separation of liability in regard to the payment of cess also. But, although the law provided for the closing of a separate account as regards the payment of revenue, the Cess Act did not provide for closing the corresponding account for the payment of cess in the same manner, and therefore MR. DAMPIER moved the addition to the Bill of the following section :—

"5A. To section 44, the following clause shall be added :—

'(5.) Whenever the separate account of the revenue payable in respect of any share or portion of an estate, as mentioned in clause 1 of this section, shall be closed, the provisions of this section shall cease to have effect in respect of such share.' "

The HON'BLE AMEER ALI said he thought the introduction of the proposed clause unnecessary. As long as a person continued to enjoy the privilege given him by Act XI of 1859 of separate liability for the payment of revenue, he would retain the similar privilege in respect to the payment of cesses conferred upon him by the first clause of section 44 of the Cess Act, but when the separate account for the payment of revenue was closed, the privilege as to separate payment of cess must cease.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER replied that the Hon'ble Member himself had in Select Committee let fall a remark to the effect that as he read the law, when once a separate account had been opened as provided in clause 4 of the section, joint liability of the proprietors of the whole estate could never be resuscitated, and it was that remark which suggested the amendment now proposed of providing expressly for the closing of a separate account for the payment of cess.

The HON'BLE MR. REYNOLDS thought that, though the words might not be absolutely necessary, the addition of the proposed clause was desirable—it seemed to him to make the intention more unmistakeable.

HIS HONOUR the PRESIDENT observed that the proposed amendment would not make any alteration in the law. If there was room for doubt in the mind of Hon'ble Members, there was probably room for doubt elsewhere.

The motion was put and agreed to.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER the Bill was then passed.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 26th instant.

RUNGPORE DRAINAGE WORKS.

MEDI AL AND MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MUNICIPAL.

Dated Calcutta, the 22nd March 1881.

RESOLUTION.

RUNGPORE has for many years been notorious for endemic fever of a severe type. The town lies between marshes on the north, and the stagnant bed of the river Ghogat on the south, and the drainage has been exceedingly defective. A scheme to improve the drainage was taken in hand by the Municipality in 1878, and Government sanctioned the acquisition of lands required for the purpose. The Government also offered to place convict labour at the disposal of the Municipality free of charge as a contribution in aid of the scheme.

2. The scheme comprised the following works:—

(1.) The cutting of a drainage channel from the marshes on the north of the town to the bed of the Ghogat river at Mahigunge.

(2.) The clearing out of the old bed of the dead Ghogat on the south of the station to within half a mile of its junction with the running stream, and the construction of a cut to connect it with the swamp behind the jail.

(3.) The clearing out of the silted-up beds of the Kanchna and Ichamutty nullahs on the east of the town. This work is important, as these nullahs when cleared out will receive a considerable portion of the drainage of the old town, Mahigunge.

(4.) The construction of subsidiary channels to carry off the surface drainage of the town.

3. The second and fourth works have been nearly completed, and considerable progress has been made with the first. But though the scheme is still incomplete, its partial execution has been already attended by beneficial results. The Sanitary Commissioner, at the time of his last inspection of the Municipality in July 1880, observed: "Much improvement has * * * already been brought about by the scheme. The mortuary returns of the last year and the first-half of this year show a distinct reduction in the fever mortality within the limits of the Municipality as compared with previous years. The level of the water in the great beels to the north and north-east of the station has been reduced to about the natural level of January, and there is hardly any water lodging anywhere throughout the civil station." The Vice-Chairman, who is the Medical Officer of the station, says:—

The beels, as a matter of fact, have been quickly relieved of their floods during the last two rains, and simultaneously with it there has been a fall in the death-rate of the town, as will be seen from the following table:—

| Year | Deaths from cholera | Deaths from small-pox. | Deaths from fevers | Deaths from bowel complaints | Deaths from all other causes. | Total deaths | Deaths per 1,000 of population |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1876 .. | 6 | 2 | 425 | 33 | 57 | 523 | 35 23 |
| 1877 .. .. | ... | ... | 440 | 39 | 99 | 578 | 38 93 |
| 1878 .. . | 93 | 2 | 290 | 48 | 53 | 486 | 34 83 |
| 1879 .. . | 6 | 18 | 182 | 48 | 92 | 346 | 21 82 |
| 1880 . . | 1 | 2 | 253 | 33 | 67 | 356 | 25 55 |

In the above table, the last five years of which accurate statistics are available, have been taken for comparison—viz. three preceding and two following the commencement of the scheme. It will be observed that although the last season was a notoriously unhealthy one in Bengal, still the number of deaths from fever during the year in Rungpore was less than that registered during the healthiest of the three years before the commencement of the works, and the total death-rate was nearly ten less per thousand of population. It should be remembered, when considering the figures in the above table, that the death-rate has been calculated upon a population enumerated long before the construction of the railway, which must have considerably increased the number of inhabitants in the town.

4. Up to the end of January last a sum of Rs. 18,538 had been expended on the scheme, of which Rs. 3,921 came from the Municipal funds and Rs. 14,617 from private subscriptions. A further expenditure of Rs. 7,600 is required for the completion of the works. Baboo Mohima Runjun Roy Chowdhry, zemindar of Kakina, has liberally subscribed Rs. 7,500, and the balance will be met from the Municipal funds. Thus of the total sum of Rs. 26,13[illegible], Rs. 22,117 will come from private subscriptions, and Rs. 4,021 from the funds of the Municipality.

5. The Commissioners are at the same time anxious to acquire all the lands to be reclaimed by the drainage works. They represent that the ordinary income of the Municipality will not be sufficient to bear the cost of maintaining the works in good order, and they desire to secure the reclaimed lands, which, it is expected, will soon become a valuable source of income. Some of the proprietors have given their lands as free gifts to the Municipality. The cost of acquiring the remaining lands is estimated at Rs. 14,000. To enable them to meet this expenditure, the Municipality now ask the Government for a grant of Rs. 7,000, and a loan of Rs. 7,000 at a low rate of interest.

6. When the scheme was originally considered, it was, as already stated, contemplated to provide convict labour free of charge. But the requirements of the Jail Department have been such that all the available convicts have been for some time employed on the construction of the jail buildings at Rungpore, Julpigoree, Bogra, and Pubna, and it has not been found possible to tell off prisoners to the drainage works in Rungpore. Under these circumstances, and in the hope that the inhabitants of other Municipalities may be encouraged to come forward with subscriptions for similar works of local improvement, the Lieutenant-Governor sanctions a grant from the Provincial Revenues of the whole sum of Rs. 14,000 required by the Municipality.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Rajshahye and Cooch Behar Division, and the Accountant General; also that it be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

COLMAN MACAULAY,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the barograph and thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Remarks on Traffic of the East Indian Railway for four weeks and 1 day ending 29th January 1881.

THE approximate figures for the period are as follow :—

| | Coaching. | | Goods. | | Total. | Material carried on revenue account, including maintenance. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | No. | Rs. | Mds. | Rs. | Rs. | Mds. | Rs. |
| 1881 ... ... ... | 636,821 | 10,54,568 | 66,36,000 | 28,92,034 | 39,46,602 | 13,76,631 | 84,747 |
| 1880 ... ... ... | 653,374 | 10,67,630 | 68,11,728 | 28,50,433 | 39,18,063 | 17,04,033 | 1,18,853 |
| Increase ... ... ... | ..... | ..... | ..... | 41,601 | 28,539 | ..... | ..... |
| Decrease ... ... ... | 16,553 | 13,062 | 1,75,728 | ..... | ..... | 3,27,402 | 34,106 |

The periods to which these figures refer are—29 days in 1881 and 31 „ „ 1880,
were it not so, the public traffic this year would exhibit a fair increase over that for 1880 both in passengers and goods.

The details of the increases and decreases of the passenger traffic are given in the following table.

While the 3rd class traffic proper has increased, that in troops and Government servants has decreased on account of cessation of operations on the frontier.

Coaching Traffic during four weeks and 1 day ending 29th January 1881.

| Total Decrease ... | 15,700 | 53,100 | |
| Nett Decrease ... | 1,574 | 24,716 | |

In goods traffic there is a large decrease in weight, but the earnings have not been affected in a similar way; this is owing to the rice traffic, although less in quantity, having been carried longer distances, thereby resulting in increased receipts.

The staples in which increases and decreases are shown are principally—

| Increases. | Decreases. |
|---|---|
| Coal, up. | Coal, down. |
| Grain. | Government stores. |
| Jaggree | Hides. |
| Opium. | Railway materials, foreign. |
| Piece-goods. | Salt. |
| | Sugar. |

INCREASES.

Coal, up ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 1,58,450 Rs. 1,06,290

This is doubtless attributable to the reduced rate of freight now quoted to the public, viz. one-sixth of a pie a maund mile for distances over 300 miles.

Grain.

| | Increase. | | Decrease. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Mds. | Rs. | Mds. | Rs. |

| Pulses ... ... ... | 44,510 | 8,950 | ..... | ..... |
| Total ... | 2,38,470 | 1,07,390 | 1,53,310 | 1,120 |

The rice traffic this year has been carried from Bengal to the North-West, where a demand existed owing to threatened scarcity. The receipts from this flow of traffic, which took an unusual direction, have largely increased.

The decrease in weight is chiefly viâ Allyghur in rice which was exported from Oudh to the Punjab last year for the troops, the falling off on this account is Mds. 1,57,220 and Rs. 19,040.

Wheat for export from Calcutta has been despatched from Patna City and Ghât chiefly, and there is an increase at that station of maunds 1,40,400 and Rs. 54,200 viâ Allyghur; also an increase is shown of maunds 33,400 and Rs. 2,830, but this was in wheat carried into Rajputana.

In other grains and pulses the traffic is normal and chiefly local.

Jaggree ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 89,290 Rs. 12,980

A fair demand has sprung up for this article in Central India, and despatches from Arrah and stations above have increased

Opium ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 44,740 Rs. 44,220

This traffic depends upon the operations of the Revenue authorities.

Piece-goods ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 13,010 Rs. 22,880

Up-country dealers in Bengal and the North-West are reported to have dealt largely in the Calcutta market after the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

DECREASES.

Coal, down ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 2,01,120 Rs. 25,780

Decreases are shown at nearly all the coal-despatching stations, and this appears to be owing to the continued importation of large quantities of English coal.

Government stores ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 18,810 Rs. 39,470

Frontier operations having ceased, the despatches of Government stores have been reduced.

Hides ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 78,610 Rs. 56,770

The importation of hides into the Calcutta market has been small during January.

Railway materials, Foreign ... ... ... ... Mds. 1,340 Rs. 12,130

The falling off is not large and is to be attributed mostly to the absence this year of despatches of rolling-stock for the State Railways.

Salt ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 4,28,610 Rs. 98,240

The salt traffic has fallen off on all sides. I give below a table of decreases at various points:—

Salt traffic during January 1881.

| INCREASE. | Mds. | Rs. | DECREASE. | Mds. | Rs. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Patna Ghât .. | 3,960 | 1,430 | Howrah ... | 69,500 | 27,150 |
| | | | Agra ... | 65,650 | 12,530 |
| | | | Viâ Agra ... | 2,24,250 | 49,890 |
| | | | Viâ Delhi ... | 33,790 | 1,990 |
| | | | Total ... | 3,93,190 | 91,560 |
| | | | Nett Decrease ... | 3,89,230 | 90,130 |

Sugar ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 11,620 Rs. 15,180

This appears to be a fluctuation only, the demand in the Punjab and Central Provinces is not so good as last year.

The train-mileage for the period has been, excluding maintenance and locomotive coal train-mileage—

| | Coaching. | Goods. | Total. |

Shunting Mileage.

There is a decrease of 223 hours owing to the number of days compared being less this year.

JAMALPORE, the 11*th March* 1881.

N. ST. L. CARTER, Traffic Manager.

Report on the Fluctuations in Traffic on the Northern Bengal State Railway for the month of February 1881.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The most notable feature in the traffic of the month is the large increase in the up traffic under the head of "All other goods". In January 1880, 33,955 maunds were carried, whereas for the month now under review the figures stand at 68,851 maunds.

Managers and Agents of tea-gardens are no doubt looking ahead and making a push to get all garden-stores, &c. up before the rains set in.

Increases.

Food grain ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 9,416

There has been more enquiry at the Port for all kinds of rice for export during the month, and the opportunity to sell has eagerly been taken advantage of by holders of stocks in this district.

Ginger ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 374

After many months of depression the traffic in this article appears to be reviving.

Gunny-bags ... ... ... ... ... Mds 4,390

The low rate for jute this season, as compared with last, is still affecting this traffic, and will continue to do so until it pays the holders of the raw staple to send it forward in its unmanufactured state.

Jute ... ... ... ... .. ... Mds. 3,253

Early in the month, the jute traffic gave promise of keeping up, but a sudden decline, coupled with a weak market, even at the lower rate, again checked despatches, or it is anticipated the increase would have been much greater.

Sugar ... ... ... . . . ... Mds. 692

The total weight carried under this head during the month stands at 2,412 maunds, out of which only 4 maunds passed downwards. The increase is due to purchasers taking advantage of the slightly easier rates to stock the local marts, and will, in all probability result in a corresponding falling-off some months hence.

Tea ... ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 302

The increased weight carried under this head, thus late in the season, can only be accounted for on the assumption that stocks have been kept back in the hope of better prices being realized.

All other goods ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 40,781

This large increase is dealt with in general remarks.

Decreases.

Ale ... ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 763

Commissariat despatches, which go to make up the bulk of the weight carried under this head are still withheld.

Railway material ... . ... ... ... Mds. 22,228

The reasons given in last month's report for the decrease in this staple apply here, and until some new work is started a revival cannot be looked for

Salt ... ... ... .. . . ... .. Mds. 2 447

The price of this article at the port has advanced about Rs. 2 a maund, and this no doubt had the effect of checking despatches.

Tobacco ... ... ... ... ... Mds. 753

The continued heavy despatches of this article during the whole of last year have no doubt worked off the last season's crop The increased weight carried for the 12 months ending 31st December 1880, as compared with the year 1879 being no less than 146,598 maunds.

Report of Fluctuation of Traffic on the Tirhoot State Railway for the month of February 1881.

THE total quantity of goods carried during the month of February 1881 aggregated 2,07,849 maunds, as compared with 1,95,392 maunds carried during the corresponding period of 1880, and 2,11,331 maunds as carried during the previous month, showing an increase of 12,457 maunds in the one case, and a decrease of 3,482 maunds in the other. 2,282 maunds of railway materials, carried during the month of February 1880, have not been taken into account

Of the several increases and decreases, the following are the prominent ones and worthy of separate explanations :—

|---|---|
| INCREASES. | |
| Coal.—Coal is fast supplying the place of firewood in the district for brick-burning purposes, and the increase is attributable to the large supplies of bricks in demand for the Government Durbhunga offices under contruction and the Maharaja's palace, and also for Road Cess both at Durbhunga and Mozufferpore ... ... ... ... ... | 30,432 |
| Lime and Kunkur.—This depends on works under construction in the district, and is gathered by the contractor at Somastipur from the river Gunduck ... ... .. . | 15,604 |

| Oil-cake.—This is outward traffic and the increase is satisfactory ... ... ... | 1,928 |
| Piece-goods.—This traffic is gradually improving and is recovering from the temporary check it received from the want of ready money among the dealers. The season of the Hindoo marriages is at hand, and the requirements will be greater ... ... ... ... ... ... | 1,120 |
| Potatoes.—This traffic is temporary ... ... ... ... ... ... | 1,118 |
| Indigo seeds —This traffic has improved much and the increase is most satisfactory. The reduction of rate was not out of place; almost all the concerns availed themselves of the railway, which had hitherto got their seed by boat through Hajipore . ... ... ... .. | 2,311 |
| Sundries —This increase is also steady and very satisfactory ... ... ... ... | 1,080 |
| DECREASES. | |
| Chillies.—This is due to the season for the new crop being at hand and the old stock exhausted ... | 4,162 |
| Food-grains —Owing to the abundant harvest everywhere the prices of food-grains have fallen very much, and the markets everywhere are overstocked This is a great bar to export traffic ... | 11,421 |
| Hides and Horns.—This depends upon the local collection, and the decrease is due to the improved health of cattle in the district .. ... ... .. ... ... | 6,535 |
| Salt.—The traffic in this staple has fallen owing to failure of several native firms and the consequent stoppage to the issue of hoondees (cheques). Salt cannot be had on credit, and hence the decrease ... ... ... ... ... ... ... ... | 7,097 |
| Saltpetre—Previous explanations will suffice to explain this ... ... ... | 3,763 |
| Seeds other than food-grains —This traffic fluctuates as necessity arises for import and export ... | 3,058 |
| Stone-ballast and ware —This fluctuates according to the requirements of the Road Cess and other Engineering works ... .. ... .. ... ... ... | 1,423 |

Report of Fluctuation of Traffic on the Patna and Gya State Railway for the month of February 1881.

THE total quantity of goods carried during the month of February 1881 aggregated 1,13,921 maunds as compared with 1,18,560 maunds carried during the corresponding period of 1880, and 1,53,861 maunds carried during the previous month showing an increase of 4,639 maunds in the one case, and 39,940 maunds in the other. Three hundred maunds of railway materials carried during the month of February 1880 have not been taken into account.

Of the several increases and decreases, the following are the prominent ones and worthy of separate explanations :—

INCREASES.

| | Mds. |
|---|---|
| Coal.—This depends entirely on Engineering works requiring bricks, in the burning of which the coal is used ... ... ... ... ... ... ... ... | 13,482 |
| Jaggree.—This for the most part consists of outward traffic, and is exported to Bombay and other stations on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway ... ... ... ... | 19,778 |
| Salt.—This is an inward traffic, imported from Howrah, Patna, and other stations for consumption in the interior of the district ... ... ... ... ... | 4,733 |
| Seeds, oil.—This is chiefly exported to Howrah. The increase is satisfactory, considering the poor demand in outside markets ... ... ... ... ... ... | 1,580 |
| Sundries.—This increase is also steady ... ... ... ... ... ... | 2,384 |

DECREASES.

|---|---|
| Food-grains.—The decrease is due to the abundant crops everywhere and the prices having fallen ... | 24,827 |
| Saltpetre.—Previous remarks will suffice for this ... ... ... ... ... | 3,098 |
| Stone, stone-ballast and wares.—This depends upon the requirements of the Road Cess and Engineering works ... ... ... ... ... ... ... ... ... | 7,721 |
| Sugar.—On account of high prices, transactions in sugar are dull ... ... ... ... | 10,410 |

COURT OF WARDS ACT AMENDMENT.

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER presented the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Court of Wards Act, 1879, and in doing so he said there were only two points necessary to be noticed now. The minor alterations made by the Committee were sufficiently set out in the report. The first of the two points was the alleged discrepancy between the Indian Majority Act, passed by the Council of the Governor-General, and the Court of Wards Act of this Council. Before the matter was laid before the Select Committee an informal meeting was held, principally to discuss this question. It was purely a question of law, and it happened that, of the four legal gentlemen of whose assistance the Committee were able to avail themselves, two held one opinion as to the construction of a certain expression in the Indian Majority Act, and these were the two law officers of the Government, while two held the other opinion. The expression in the Majority Act was "every minor under jurisdiction of the Court of Wards." The opinion of the learned Advocate-General and of the Legal Remembrancer was that this expression in the Indian Majority Act embraced every minor upon whom that Court might stretch out its hands and take charge of his property, if, in the exercise of its discretion, it thought right to do so. If the view of these legal officers was correct, then the way in which the expression was used in the Majority Act had the effect of leaving the Court of Wards to declare whom they should consider to be minors for the purposes of that Act, and therefore there was no discrepancy between the two Acts and no alteration was required in the present Bill. On the other hand the two learned gentlemen opposite (Mr. Ameer Ali and Baboo Peary Mohun Mookerjee) were of opinion that the expression in question in the Indian Majority Act embraced only minors of whose person and property the Court had actually taken charge in the exercise of its discretional jurisdiction. If so, there was certainly some difficulty in reconciling the two Acts; but then this Council had not the power to clear up the doubt by putting an authoritative construction on the words of the Majority Act.

On these considerations, and giving that weight to the opinion of the law officers of Government, who happened to be agreed, which was officially due to them, the Select Committee had not thought it necessary to introduce any provision on this head into the present Bill.

The next point was that the Committee had omitted the proposed section 55A as unnecessary. It was the section by which MR. DAMPIER had proposed to give authority to the Court of Wards to allow any ward to bring a suit, as if that ward were not in charge of the Court. The consideration of this section led the Committee to look somewhat deeply into the general law, and the result was that it was held by those most competent to give an opinion, that, as the law stood, there was no necessity for a specific provision of the nature of the one he proposed; cases such as MR. DAMPIER had intended to meet were already met, Wards of Court, who are not minors, being already under the general law competent to institute certain suits independently of the Court of Wards, and the managers of their estate. That being the general effect of the law, it had not been found necessary to put in any provision to secure it.

He saw one point looming at a distance, regarding which he might perhaps have to propose an amendment. It was this. It had been represented that for the purpose of executing a certificate, the manager of a ward's estate was, under the Public Demands Recovery Act, in the position of a plaintiff decree-holder. Now, after a certificate had been made for the recovery of a certain sum due to the ward's estate, and before it was fully executed and satisfied, suppose the estate of that ward passed away from the jurisdiction of the Court, how was that certificate to be sued out? Who was then legally competent to take such steps as were necessary to go on executing it? That was a question which had been raised. He had in an informal way consulted two authorities on the subject; one said it was as clear as possible; the decree being made, the Collector could go on executing it even after the estate had passed out of its hands, and the Collector would make over the amount realized to the proprietor who had come into possession of the estate. The other legal luminary said it was palpable that the proprietor in possession of the estate was the successor in title to the manager, and that, under the general law, he would be entitled to take such steps as were necessary for executing these certificates.

This was purely a legal question, and MR. DAMPIER did not like to rush in where the angels feared to tread, and he proposed to give the subject further consideration and to obtain more formal opinions before the next meeting of the Council.

The HON'BLE PEARY MOHUN MOOKERJEE said he had the honour of serving on the Select Committee, but he regretted that he could not agree with the learned law officers of the Government or of the majority of the hon'ble gentlemen of the Committee in thinking that the Court of Wards Act or the Indian Majority Act gave the Court of Wards any thing like a prospective jurisdiction with respect to persons who had passed the age of eighteen years and had not completed the age of twenty-one years. He thought that the standards of majority, fixed by the two enactments, related to classes of persons differently situated, and that they did not conflict with one another; but as the majority of the gentlemen who formed the Select Committee were of a contrary opinion, he subscribed to the report of the Committee. But since signing the report he had consulted the authorites on the subject, and he had been confirmed in his opinion by the rulings of the highest authorities, he meant of the Privy Council and of a full Bench of the High Court. He thought that a person after he had attained the age of eighteen years was beyond the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards. He stated this simply because he wished it to be understood that he did not subscribe to the opinion expressed in the 2nd paragraph of the report of the Select Committee.

The Hon'ble Amir Ali said that as he had the honour of serving on the Select Committee he might be allowed to say a few words to explain the dissent he had recorded. The reasons which compelled him to differ from his hon'ble colleagues were contained in his dissent, and he was not going to trespass at any length on the time of the Council. He was sorry to find the opinion of the law officers of Government were against him with reference to the meaning which was to be attached to the words "under the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards" in section 3 of the Indian Majority Act. They were of opinion that these words vested in the Court of Wards a prospective jurisdiction, and that consequently there was no conflict between the provisions of Act IX of 1875 and the Court of Wards Act The opinion of the law officers of the Government was entitled to the greatest weight, but he (Mr. Amir Ali) could not bring himself to agree in the view that the word "jurisdiction" in the Indian Majority Act had a different meaning from the word as used in other Acts. He thought a reference to some of the authorities mentioned already by his hon'ble friend (Baboo Peary Mohun Mookerjee) would show that in every instance in which the question had been discussed the term had been construed to imply an actual and not a prospective and possible jurisdiction. His hon'ble and learned friend the Legal Remembrancer had mentioned to him that in section 11 of the Court of Wards Act and Act XL of 1858 the word was used in the sense which Mr. Allen was inclined to put upon it, but a careful examination of the sections referred to by him had confirmed Mr. Ameer Ali in his conviction that the words "under the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards" meant under the actual jurisdiction or charge of the Court of Wards and did not include persons who had attained their majority under Act IX of 1875. The analogy which was sought to be drawn from the expression "jurisdiction of the civil court" did not appear to him to be correct. The jurisdiction of the civil court was an actual jurisdiction, exercised with reference to all persons and at all times. Everybody was subject to that jurisdiction unless specially exempted, whereas nobody was subject to the authority of the Court of Wards unless specially declared to be so or the charge of his or her property was taken by the Court of Wards.

The Hon'ble Kristodas Pal said, lawyers, like doctors, differed; he did not profess to be a lawyer, but as a Member of the Select Committee, he took a common-sense view of the question raised. If there was a conflict between the law of the Indian Council and the Court of Wards Act, it was not in the power of this Council to remedy that conflict. The Select Committee had not touched the law one way or another, and had not therefore in any way added to the difficulties which might be at present experienced. Such being the case, he thought the paragraph which had been inserted in the report of the Select Committee would not in any way alter the present position of things. If the Government, in its executive capacity, thought that the two laws ought to be reconciled, it should move the Legislative Council of the Governor-General to amend the Majority Act. But in his opinion it was not competent for this Council to do anything in the matter.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier said, with reference to remarks which had just been made, that he entirely agreed with the Hon'ble Member who spoke last.

He observed that the Hon'ble and learned Member who spoke first said more than once that one of the constructions of the Indian Majority Act was held by the majority of the Members of the Select Committee, as well as by the law officers of Government. MR. DAMPIER begged leave to say that he had in this matter pinned his official faith on the opinion of the Government law officers.

He was satisfied that, whichever of the two constructions was correct, nothing that this Council was competent to enact would be of practical use. Any conclusion which he might arrive at as to the correct construction must, therefore be a sterile conclusion, leading to no results. He had not therefore thought it necessary to examine the merits of the rival constructions as he would have done had any result depended upon his vote.

The HON'BLE MR. ALLEN said, as one of the Members of the Select Committee, and particularly as one of those by whose advice it acted, he thought it right to state why that Committee had determined to make no change in the Bill in respect to the matter under discussion, and the explanation lay in the answer to the question who was a minor under the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards. The difficulty arose not as to the meaning of any words in any Act passed by this Council, but as to the meaning of words used in the Indian Majority Act of 1875 which was passed by the Council of the Governor-General. The words of section 3 of that Act were—

"Subject as aforesaid, every minor of whose person or property a guardian has been or shall be appointed by any court of justice, and every minor under the jurisdiction of any Court of Wards shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Succession Act, or in any other enactment, be deemed to have attained his majority when he shall have completed his age of twenty-one years and not before."

The question was as to the meaning of the words "under the jurisdiction of any Court of Wards." The learned Advocate-General's opinion (and the only opinion which seemed to MR. ALLEN the correct opinion) as to the construction of these words was that a distinction must be drawn between the words "under the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards" and the words "under the charge of the Court of Wards" The opinion maintained by his friends on the opposite side appeared to him to depend entirely on the loose way in which the word "jurisdiction" was used in this country. Every person who had any functions to perform was said to have a "jurisdiction," and thus we heard of a dâk-runner's "jurisdiction" and a chowkidar's "jurisdiction," and other "jurisdictions" of a similar kind in which the word was used in a most slovenly manner. But the exact meaning of the word was to signify, prospectively, a possible control, thus every person was under the jurisdiction of that court which had the dictio juris—the right of declaring what was jus in cases in which he was concerned; therefore the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards must extend to those persons over whose affairs the court had a dictio juris; that is to say all those minors who held entire estates paying revenue direct to Government. The qualification therefore was that of every minor zemindar holding an entire estate whether his property had or had not been taken charge of, he was under the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards: and consequently the Committee could see no conflict between an Act of the Governor-General, which expressly, in the case of persons under the jurisdiction of the Court, extended the age of majority to twenty-one years, and an Act of this Council which stated that in the case of those subject to the Court of Wards, a minor was a person under twenty-one years of age. The expression "under the jurisdiction" occurred in another Act of the Governor-General in Council, namely Act XL of 1858 which made provision for the custody and protection of the property of minors not under the jurisdiction of the Court of Wards and who did not hold entire estates paying revenue to Government. Section 2 of that Act provided that the care of the persons of all minors (not under the protection of the Court of Wards) and the charge of their property should be "subject to the jurisdiction of the civil court." The expression in that section was almost identical with the expression in the Indian Majority Act, but MR. ALLEN never heard that the section was supposed to refer merely to persons whose property had been already taken charge of by the civil court: clearly, it contemplated the possibility of the property being taken charge of by the court, and not necessarily that it had been actually taken under it. It was not advisable to explain the meaning of the words in question by reference to an Act of this Legislature, because it might be said that it was not competent for this Council to amend or explain an expression used in an Act of the Council of the Governor-General. But a case had just been put in his hands which was relied upon by the hon'ble member opposite as giving the opinion of the Privy Council to the effect that the age of majority for all minors must be taken at eighteen years.* The point of the decision on which reliance was placed appeared to MR. ALLEN not to affect this question at all, except in a very remote way, and even there their Lordships of the Privy Council drew a distinction and based their decision on the express words of a Regulation. They said,—

* Jumoona Dassya vs Ramasoondari Dassya I L R. 1 Calc 289—295.

"The only remaining point was that taken by Mr. Doyne to the effect that although Govind Chunder may have been of the age of discretion according to the Hindu law as prevailing in Bengal, he was still a minor under the 2nd section of Regulation XXVI of 1793, and that under the 33rd section of the prior Regulation, X of 1793, he could not make the adoption without the consent of his guardian. The last-mentioned enactment prohibits a disqualified proprietor from making an adoption, except with the sanction of the Court of Wards, and it has been determined by the sudder court in the case cited—Anundmoyee Chowdrani vs. Sheeb Chunder Roy—(1) a case which afterwards came here, though not on the same point, (2) that the prohibition applies equally to an authority to adopt and to an actual adoption. But the words of the 33rd section of Regulation X of 1793 would seem to confine its operation to persons who are under the guardianship of the Court of Wards."

(1) S D A (1855), page 918
(2) Section 9, Moore's I A, 287.

This objection was overruled it is true, but the basis of their Lordships' opinion was that section 33 of Regulation X of 1793 limited the incapacity to those who were under the guardianship of the Court of Wards, that is to those whose property was in charge of the Court of Wards and to whom the Court of Wards stood in the place of guardian. The judgment went on—

"And we have the judgment of Mitter, J, to the effect that where a minor is not under the Court of Wards but has attained years of discretion according to the Hindu law, he is capable of executing such an instrument as this. Rajendra Narain Lahooree vs. Saroda Soondaree Dabee (3). If, then, the case actually turned upon this point, their Lordships' opinion would have been that Govind Chunder was not incapacitated from executing this instrument by reason of his not having attained the age of eighteen years"

(3) 16 W R, 548

The question was not then, the validity of the adoption, but whether a disqualified landholder could execute an instrument giving power to adopt, and the Privy Council in thinking that he could, relied on the words of Regulation X of 1793 which limited the prohibition to adopt, to those persons who were actually under the guardianship of the Court of Wards. There therefore did not appear to MR. ALLEN to be any difficulty as to the meaning of the words "under the jurisdiction of the Court" in the Indian Majority Act, and even if there was, he did not see how this Council could in any way remove the obscurity, unless, indeed, it should declare that eighteen years was to be the age of majority of minors under the Court of Wards. But as he had already said he did not think there was any ambiguity in the words of the Indian Majority Act, and he thought it very desirable that the age of majority for proprietors of estates paying revenue direct to Government should not be reduced under twenty-one years.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the barograph and thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction of the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.
